Ike's Personality Full of Contrasts

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower had a look that night of boyish embarrassment.

It was the 56th birthday of his wife Mamie, Nov. 14, 1952. The two of them had been chatting with newsmen on the porch of the Eisenhower cottage at Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia, where they had gone for a rest after his first-term election 10 days earlier.

"Ike," Mamie asked with a sort of pixie smile, "is it all right if I show them what you gave me for my birthday?"

Reluctant Consent

"Oh all right," he consented reluctantly.

Mamie disappeared into the cottage and then returned to the doorway, holding before her a beautiful negligee. Ike beamed, pleasure overriding his embarrassment.

To this reporter, Dwight David Eisenhower was a fascinating personality study.

There was the man with the magnetic grin—the man whose charisma touched off wildly enthusiastic ovations wherever he of the news corps followed him on his travels throughout the world as president—arms outstretched high above his head.

There was the man of intense, imperturbable concentration, whether fishing for trout, lining up a putt, drawing a bead on a quail—or studying a classified document at the moment a visitor was ushered into his White House office.

There was the man whose utter essence was warmth and

Essence of Warmth

There was the man, too, who never was quite at ease with the news corps in some public, some private circumstances. There could be an inbred military sternness that suggested to some that they ought to snap to attention.

Sometimes it was quite understandable, like one summer day in a Colorado trout stream where Ike was having remarkable success. As reporters watched from a highway overlooking the stream, he hauled in one trout after another—and we reported his catch in detail.

He went over the legal limit, but neither he nor we were aware of it at the time.

Baleful Glower

When Eisenhower found out about it later that day, and about the fact his unwitting transgression was making headlines, he turned a baleful glower upon us.

On other occasions, reporters had been invited to share in the fish fry on the bank of the stream—a treat we had enjoyed immensely.

There was no invitation that day.

As president, Eisenhower refused to speak critically or those who were critical of him or of his administration.

"I never deal in personalities," became a familiar response at news conference.

But then after thus divorcing his remarks from individuals he would go on to declare:

At the time of the first of his

BY JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The common people of this silent capital trudged in shuffling, ever-lengthening lines past the soldier's casket of Dwight D. Eisenhower today while world leaders assembled to pay their final tribute.

The funeral day of America's 34th President dawned radiantly clear and the file of mourners—two double lines, moving deliberately but steadily—quickly grew.

Soon it stretched from the hushed Capitol Rotunda, where the hero general of World War II lay in state, down the broad steps and far out into the Capitol Plaza where he twice took the oath of the presidency.

The leaders of American government and representatives of most of the world's nations would be there this afternoon at the start of his funeral procession.

World Traders

Among them: President Charles de Gaulle of France, the Shah of Iran, King Constantine of Greece, King Baudouin of Belgium, West Germany's Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger and dozens more.

The march of mourners halted briefly while King Baudouin, clad in air force uniform with purple sash, presented a white floral wreath. He placed it gently, then stood at sharp attention and saluted.

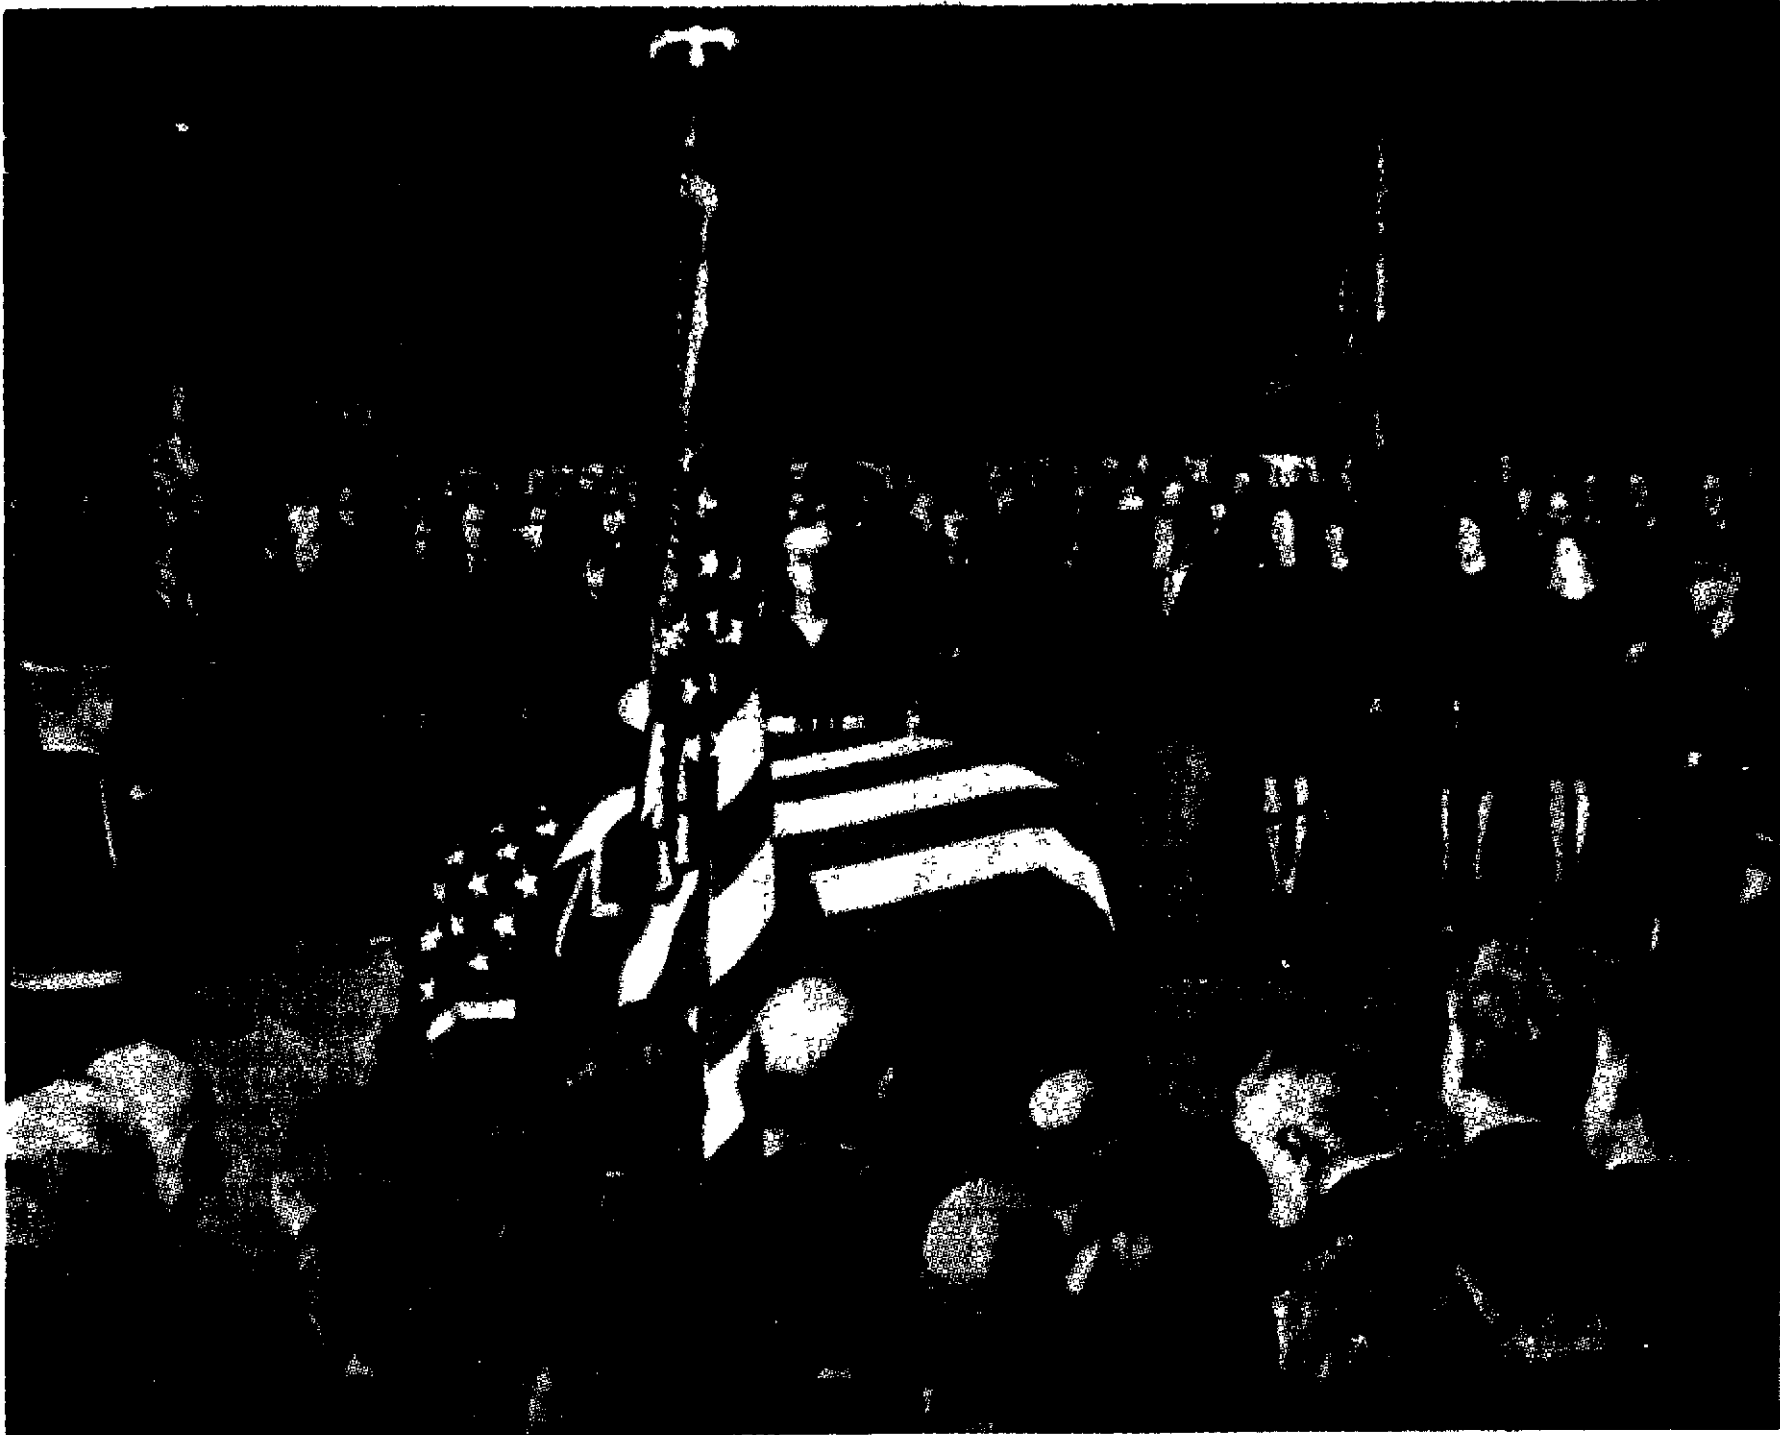

Reckless Line

Again the quiet, tearless, affectionate line moved. By mid-morning fully half its numbers were children. Schools were closed and government offices excused on this day of national mourning.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, De Gaulle, here to mourn a World War II comrade in arms, conferred privately in the White House with President Nixon on the problems of a world not yet made safe for democracy.

Fights Back Tears

Mamie Composed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower's eyes never left the flag-shrouded casket of the husband whose last thoughts and words were for her.

Twice she seemed to fight back tears.

Amid the great assemblage of world and national leaders in the Capitol Rotunda, the former president's wife of nearly 53 years was calm and composed.

And so she remained during President Nixon's 16 minute eulogy, through the President's recitation of her husband's last words.

"I've always loved my wife. I've always loved my children. I've always loved my grandchildren. I have always loved my country."

Last Words

Dwight D. Eisenhower, Nixon said, spoke these words to his wife just before he died last Friday.

When the eulogy was over, Mrs. Eisenhower returned to seclusion and private grief.

She and other members of the family have stayed close together in hotel suites while leaders of the world gather for the funeral.

Mrs. Eisenhower has sought to restrict this sorrowful part of her life to members of her family, a friend said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. has received the 53rd annual Spingarn Award from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for his "accomplishments, talent and humanity."

In accepting the honor, Sunday, Davis, 43, urged Negro activism and creation of black studies in American universities, but he said he is opposed to black separations

Through it all, in public, Mrs. Eisenhower, 72, has clung to the arm of her son, John, 46, who has been seen often to give her black gloved hand a reassuring pat.

Grandchildren Present

The four grandchildren have attended the public services, as erect and composed as their grandmother.

When Eisenhower's body was taken into the Rotunda, the grandchildren walked slowly up not as vital as the Pentagon, made it out to be.

David, 21 today, and Julie, his wife and daughter of President Nixon, and David's sister, Susan, 17, went first, all holding hands. Also there were Mary Jo Eisenhower, 13, and Barbara Anne, 19, and her husband, Fernando Echavarria-Urbe of Bogota, Colombia.

Mrs. Eisenhower, John, and his wife, Barbara, did not stand for the ceremony. His troop level today is about there but went into the Capitol by a door beneath the steps and were falling—around 100,000.

Former President Johnson restricted U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last March 31 to the narrow panhandle beneath the 20th parallel to encourage Hanoi to enter peace negotiations. Last Nov. 1, with talks imminent, he made the prohibition complete.

Bombing Halt Has Had Little Military Effect on U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officers say the United States has suffered little militarily from the prohibition against bombing North Vietnam, begun in limited fashion one year ago today.

This attitude would seem to be an admission that the air campaign against the North, launched in February 1965, was not as vital as the Pentagon, made it out to be.

But, military men say, the North Vietnamese have gained operating flexibility and are no longer paying as high a price to infiltrate men and supplies southward.

Troop Level

At the same time, however, Hanoi has not been able, or has not chosen, to build up a much larger force in South Vietnam. Its troop level today is about what it was when the bombs were falling—around 100,000.

Former President Johnson restricted U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last March 31 to the narrow panhandle beneath the 20th parallel to encourage Hanoi to enter peace negotiations. Last Nov. 1, with talks imminent, he made the prohibition complete.

Four divisions, or around 40,000 men, which were withdrawn to North Vietnam last year remain scattered above the DMZ and pose a potential threat.

Risk Invasion

If Vietnamese were massed above the DMZ, officers say the United States would face the threat of a resumption of the bombing.

China Silent on Soviet Offer for Border Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Red Chinese have not reacted to a Soviet note seeking talks to eliminate tension on the Manchurian border, and the general feeling here is that the Kremlin does not expect them to.

Observers felt Moscow merely wanted to show its Warsaw Pact allies it is trying to solve the Soviet-Chinese border dispute in a reasonable way, hoping to resolve the disagreements it sparked among East-bloc countries.

These disagreements reportedly led to another postponement of the long delayed world Communist conference. At a recent preparatory meeting in Moscow, Romania was reported to have been most critical of Soviet handling of the border dispute.

Big Play

The Soviet's note, delivered to the Chinese Embassy here Saturday, got big play in Russian newspapers. Sunday it was calm and restrained, markedly different from the usual invective traded by Moscow and Peking.

"The Soviet government is firmly convinced the vital interests of the Soviet and Chinese people will enable them to remove and overcome difficulties in Soviet-Chinese relations," it said.

The note invited Peking to resume Chinese-Soviet border talks that started in February 1964 and were broken off that same year. But it indicated no softening in the Soviet attitude toward China's extensive territorial claims, dismissing them as "a concoction from beginning to end."

It also warned "The Soviet government states and considers it necessary to reiterate that it resolutely rejects any encroachments by anyone on Soviet lands and that any attempts to talk to the Soviet Union in the language of weapons will be met with a firm rebuff."

Israel Expects Critical Time After Rejecting Big 4 Offer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel was digging in today for a critical spring and summer after its Cabinet rejected any Big Four settlement for the Middle East and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser talked again of war.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told border settlers the summer would be "most critical" because the Egyptian regime is under heavy pressure to renew the war or abdicate. And Nasser said Sunday that war with Israel is inevitable "so long as they refuse to withdraw from the occupied Arab lands."

Addressing the national congress of the Arab Socialist Union, Nasser said: "The days when we could not answer Israeli shelling have passed. We now can hit back, and hit violently." However, he said Egypt still hoped the coming four-power talks in New York at the United Nations would result in some kind of peace settlement.

Before Talks

Because the meetings of the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union are expected to begin this week, the Israeli Cabinet decided Sunday to state its position before rather than after the talks.

The Cabinet communique said: "Israel entirely opposes the plan to convene representatives of states outside the Mid-

Security Needs

It was no secret that the Israelis opposed the talks. They are said to believe that an imposed solution could only benefit the Arabs because they expect Russia and France to insist that Israel withdraw from the lands it occupied in the June 1967 war. Before Israel gives up its biggest bargaining lever, it wants a signed peace agreement with the Arabs.

The Cabinet asserted that in the absence of a signed peace treaty with its neighbors, Israel will "consolidate her position in accordance with the vital need of security and development."

As if to underscore this, Israel

jets streaked over the Jordanian cease-fire line Sunday morning. The army said they attacked guerrilla positions which opened fire on a patrol and wounded four border guards.

Later an Israeli border town was shelled, but it could not be determined whether the fire was returned. No casualties or damage were reported.

Artillery Exchanges

The planes went in as the U.N. Security Council continued to study a Jordanian complaint against a similar attack Wednesday in which Jordan said 18 civilians were killed. There was strong pressure to pass a resolution condemning the raid.

On of Dayan's staff officers said Israel expects trouble with Egypt along the Suez Canal, where the two armies have frequently exchanged artillery fire in recent weeks.

Chubby Vietnamese Orphan Finds a Home

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Little Kieu Thi Lan Hornberger is new to America. And the Vietnam war orphan still cries it someone brings out her airline travel bag.

Kieu Thi Lan She isn't quite brave enough to go outside the house, either. Kieu's arrival last week at the George Hornberger home climaxed a two-year battle with red tape. The chubby girl is now two years and eight months old.

"We first got the idea of adopting a Vietnamese girl when we read about other couples who had," Mrs. Hornberger said.

Month of Delay "We wrote to the Sacred Heart orphanage in Da Nang and they sent us photographs of her. She was only eight months old. Her pictures were so cute."

Month after month of official delay followed.

"Many times we felt discouraged when we had setbacks. But we wouldn't give up until we had tried every last avenue to get her to America," Mrs. Hornberger said.

Finally, a South Vietnamese attorney succeeded in putting the necessary documents through channels.

Kieu Thi Lan was packed up and Pan American Airline stewardesses watched over the dimpled American-Vietnamese tot as she traveled alone from Saigon to San Francisco.

Accompany Child

A United Airlines representative went to San Francisco from Philadelphia to accompany the child here.

A note taped to the blue flight bag read:

Three years old. She is going to join her new parents in Philadelphia. She does not speak English.

She may not speak much of it, but Kieu Thi Lan, Americanized by the Hornbergers to Marie Theresa, constantly amazes them by dropping English words into her Vietnamese baby talk.

"All gone," she once sighed when her sister Rita Lynn, 1½, broke a red airlines balloon. She has another sister, Lisa Marie, 2½, and a brother, George Jr., 4. Her foster father and mother are both 25.

"The first night home, Marie Theresa took to my husband right away," Mrs. Hornberger said. She sat on his lap watching television. She cries if my husband or I leave her."

Marie Theresa has gone off her milk and crackers Vietnamese diet and gobbles spaghetti, hot dogs, potato chips and cookies. There are plenty of cookies. Her new father is a baker.

Kaukauna to Vote Again on School Funding

Referendum On $1.5 Million Is Only One of Six

KAUKAUNA — Voters here will have an extra referendum to vote on Tuesday, aside from the five statewide questions, and chances are they will take a careful look at the wording.

On the ballot is the referendum seeking authorization for the city to float a $1.5 million bond issue to finance construction of a new north side elementary school. The last time the district voted on the issue the election outcome was invalidated because the wrong question appeared on several voting machines.

Voters also will select two of three candidates to serve on the board of education. Candidates are Olin Dryer and Victor Haen, incumbents, and Mrs. Joan F. Wolf.

Aldermen opposed are George Simon, 3rd, and William Rogers, 5th.

A Gauge of Greatness . . . I

Destiny Marked Eisenhower For His Role of Leadership

By RELMAN MORIN AP Special Correspondent

A strange pattern appears again and again in the whole of Dwight D. Eisenhower's story, a sequence of events that seems to have preordained him for his great role in history.

He makes a certain decision, unaware that it will lead to a turning point in his life. Sheer accident brings him to other turning points. If he had made a different decision as a particular moment, or if events had developed differently, it is extremely unlikely that he would have been chosen to lead the mightiest army in history, and then to be elected President of the United States. Indeed, it is doubtful that the world ever would have heard his name.

The nexus—destiny or blind chance—is clearly visible, binding together the strands of his two careers.

Used Opportunities This is not to say that Eisenhower was merely a fortunate man. He brought to each new undertaking a keenly analytical vision, determination, and the physical and mental stamina to work long hours. He took advantage of his opportunity, but nothing came to him on a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday with 1st and 2nd Ward residents casting ballots at Park School and 3rd, 4th and 5th Ward residents voting at Nicolet School.

to the United States Military Academy. He had graduated from high school in Abilene, Kan., and was proposed to fill them in competitive examinations. May the best man win.

With "Swede's" help, Ike crammed furiously for a month and then went to Topeka for the examinations. Playing it safe, he did not express a preference for the Naval Academy. He took the tests for both service schools.

"Dear Swede" Eisenhower's closest friend was a schoolmate named Everett L. Hazlett, Jr. Dwight called him "Swede." Throughout the Second World War and even when he was President, Eisenhower corresponded regularly with his friend. Some of his most interesting and touching letters began with the salutation, "Dear Swede."

In the year before, Hazlett of age for Annapolis. Bristow had received a Congressional appointment to the United States Naval Academy, but had failed the entrance examinations. Now, having obtained a second appointment, he was taking special studies in preparation for a second try.

"Swede" often came to the creamery at night to pass the time with Ike. One night, he broached an idea—why shouldn't Ike try for an appointment to the Academy? He pictured the fun they could have together. They might even be roommates. But he touched the most responsive chord when he said, "Look at it this way, Ike. Here's a chance for an education and you don't have to pay for it."

The thought took root. Ike promptly wrote to both Eisenhower's grades were well above average at West Point. He graduated in the top third of the Class of 1915.

However, a serious question arose as to whether he should be commissioned.

He injured his knee playing football against Tufts College in his second year as a cadet. (Eisenhower said that in the ensuing years more than two dozen Tufts alumni each told him that he had been the one who inflicted the injury and apologized "for hitting you so hard.") He said, wryly, that he often wondered how many men Tufts had on the field that day!

Characteristically, he ignored the pain. Then, in a cavalry drill, he jumped from his horse and the knee buckled like a jackknife. He was hospitalized in traction part of the time, for 30 days.

Commission in Doubt

When he was about to graduate the medical officers at the Academy were not certain whether they should recommend him for a commission. The authorities hesitated to commission any cadet with a serious physical defect which might force him to retire early. In that event, the investment of four years' training in the Academy would be lost. What should they do about the man with the trick knee?

The question of commissioning him hung in the balance.

Eisenhower did not attempt to argue his case. He had achieved, after all, a college education, albeit primarily in military science. If he was not to go into the Army he would have to try some other profession.

The medical officers offered to recommend him for a commission in the Coast Artillery. He refused. He said he wanted the Infantry. After long deliberations—and stretching the point—they agreed.

If they had decided otherwise, there would not have been a Lt. Eisenhower, much less the Allied Supreme Commander of

Forest Land Needs Better Service Roads

Bill Urges State Aid To Open Area For Recreational Use

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau MADISON — Improving the service roads within the vast county forests of Wisconsin would open up hundreds of thousands of acres of land for recreation at a time of increasing public pressure for wilderness camping and other recreational opportunities.

That was the argument made by northern Wisconsin county officials as they asked the legislature to support their bill proposing to pay annual state aids of $100 a mile for maintenance of the roads which now traverse the huge forest holdings, but are not usable by the public during much of the year.

The money would come from the state highway fund, which now supports higher annual payments for the maintenance of nearly 60,000 miles of town roads, county trunk roads, and city and village streets.

The appeal was made to the conservation committee of the state assembly.

Twenty-eight northern and central Wisconsin counties now have substantial acreage of once tax-delinquent land in growing forests, where timber that name nearly 30 years later.

stand improvement work is already assisted by the state under the cooperative forestry law. Together they encompass about 2.2 million acres of land. Some of the counties have provided recreational facilities within those forests, adopting the multiple use concept of forest management.

But Adrian De Vriend, an extension forester representing the county forest committees of the state, said that access to much of the county timber land is limited during periods of wet weather and snow, and that public use could be enhanced significantly with a fund to assist in the maintenance of the forest roads.

Damage in Collision; One Auto Hits House

MENASHA — The drivers of two cars received apparent minor injuries but their cars sustained a total of $1,300 in damage Saturday afternoon as a result of a collision on Racine Street.

Police said Elizabeth L. Trevelyan, 40, 400 S. South Court, Appleton, sustained cuts to her leg and thumb. Damage to her car was estimated at $700. The driver of the other auto, Daniel L. Hahn, 17, 500 Palisades Drive, Appleton, reportedly suffered a bloody nose while damage to his auto amounted to an estimated $600.

Hahn was driving north on Racine Street, police said, after turning off Fourth Street when the accelerator stuck and he lost control and veered to the left of the center line and collided with the southbound Trevelyan car.

Both vehicles went over the curb and the Trevelyan car

Kaukauna Teens Hurt When Car Strikes Tree

KAUKAUNA — Two youths suffered minor injuries in an accident at about 8:45 a.m. Friday when the car in which they were riding left the road and struck two trees at 311 Plank Road.

The driver, Ralph Seefeldt, 19, route 2, Kaukauna, was cited by Kaukauna police for driving at speeds not reasonable and proper for the conditions.

He and his brother, Kenneth, 18, same address, were taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital in the city ambulance for treatment of bruises and abrasions.

He struck a house at 400 Racine Street while the Hahn car wound up on the lawn.

NOTICE OF REFERENDUM ELECTION

STATE OF WISCONSIN
COUNTY OF OUTAGAMIE (SS)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that at an election to be held in the several towns, wards, villages and election districts of Outagamie County, Wisconsin, on the first Tuesday of April, A.D., 1969, being the first day of said month, the following proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Wisconsin, having been approved by two successive legislatures, will be submitted to a vote of the people pursuant to law:

Jt. Res. No. 85. Deposited February 25, 1969
No. 2, 1969

ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION
To amend article IV, sections 23 and 23a of the constitution, relating to uniformity of county government (2nd consideration).
WHEREAS at the general session of the legislature in the year 1967 an amendment to the constitution was proposed by assembly joint resolution 18 and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses, which amendment reads as follows:

"(Article IV) Section 23. The legislature shall establish but one system of town and county government, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable, except that the requirement of uniformity shall not apply to the administrative means of exercising powers of a local legislative character conferred by section 22 upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties; but the legislature may provide for the election at large once in every xxx four xxx 4 years of a chief executive officer in any county xxx having a population of five-hundred thousand or more xxx with such powers of an administrative character as they may from time to time prescribe in accordance with this section.

Section 23a. Every resolution or ordinance passed by the county board in any county xxx having a population of five hundred thousand or more xxx shall, before it becomes effective, be presented to the chief executive officer. If he approves, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it with his objections, which objections shall be entered at large upon the journal and the board shall proceed to reconsider the matter. Appropriations may be approved in whole or in part by the chief executive officer and the part approved shall become law, and the part objected to shall be returned in the same manner as provided for in other resolutions or ordinances. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members-elect of the county board agree to pass the resolution or ordinance or the part of the resolution or ordinance objected to, it shall become effective on the date prescribed but not earlier than the date of passage following reconsideration. In all such cases, the votes of the members of the county board shall be determined by ayes, and xxx nays xxx and the names of the members voting for or against the resolution or ordinance or the part thereof objected to shall be entered on the journal. If any resolution or ordinance is not returned by the chief executive officer to the county board at its first meeting occurring not less than xxx six xxx days, Sundays excepted, after it has been presented to him, it shall become effective unless the county board has recessed or adjourned for a period in excess of xxx sixty xxx 60 days, in which case it shall not be effective without his approval." Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution is agreed to by this legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the foregoing amendment be submitted to a vote of the people at the election to be held on the first Tuesday of April 1969 and if a majority of the voters voting thereon approve this amendment, it shall become a part of the constitution of the state; and, be it further

Resolved, That the question of the ratification of the foregoing amendment be stated on the ballot as follows:
"Shall sections 23 and 23a of article IV of the constitution be amended to provide that the requirement for uniformity of county government shall not apply to the administrative means of exercising powers of a local legislative character conferred by the constitution upon county boards and that the legislature may provide for all counties to have an elected chief executive officer with veto power?"

EXPLANATION
Effect of ratification.

"A 'yes' vote would require the legislature to provide for an elected county chief executive in every county who would have veto power over resolutions and ordinances passed by the county board, and would enable the legislature to provide that such chief executive officers in the various counties have the same or different administrative and supervisory duties where the exercise of powers of a local legislative character were concerned. Such elected chief executive officer with similar powers is presently permitted only in counties of over 500,000 population and presently has the powers set forth in Art. IV, Sections 23 and 23a, Wis. Const., and Section 59.031. Stats. If the amendments are adopted the legislature could grant similar, additional, or lesser administrative powers to county chief executive officers, without uniformity as to all counties."

"A 'no' vote would leave the present uniformity of the system of county government unchanged. Counties of over 500,000 population (only Milwaukee at present) would continue to have an elected chief executive officer with veto powers and with extensive administrative duties now set forth in Section 59.031, Stats. County boards of supervisors in other counties would uniformly retain the sole power to enact resolutions and ordinances relative matters of a local legislative character and in those counties the administrative means of exercising powers of a local legislative character would continue to be required to be as uniform as practicable for all counties."

No. 3, 1969
ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION
To amend article VIII, section 7 of the constitution, granting the state the authority to contract debt and borrow money for various public purposes (2nd consideration).

WHEREAS, at the general session of the legislature in the year 1967 an amendment to the constitution was proposed, by Assembly Joint Resolution 1, and agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses, which amendment reads as follows:

"(Article VIII) Section 7. (1) The legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

(2) Any other provision of this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding:

(a) The state may contract public debt and pledges to the payment thereof its full faith, credit and taxing power to acquire, construct, develop, extend, enlarge or improve land, waters, property, highways, buildings, equipment or facilities for public purposes.

(b) The aggregate public debt contracted by the state in any calendar year pursuant to paragraph (a) shall not exceed an amount equal to the lesser of:

1. Three-fourths of one per centum of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state; or

2. Five per centum of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state less the sum of: A. the aggregate public debt of the state contracted pursuant to this section outstanding as of January 1 of such calendar year after subtracting therefrom the amount of sinking funds on hand on January 1 of such calendar year which are applicable exclusively to repayment of such outstanding public debt and, B. the outstanding indebtedness as of January 1 of such calendar year of any entity of the type described in paragraph (d) to the extent that such indebtedness is supported by or payable from payments out of the treasury of the state.

(c) The state may contract public debt, without limit, to fund or refund the whole or any part of any public debt contracted pursuant to paragraph (a), including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest to accrue thereon, or to fund or refund the whole or any part of any indebtedness incurred prior to January 1, 1972, by any entity of the type described in paragraph (d), including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest to accrue thereon.

(d) No money shall be paid out of the treasury, with respect to any lease, sublease or other agreement entered into after January 1, 1971, to the Wisconsin State Agencies Building Corporation, Wisconsin State Colleges Building Corporation, Wisconsin State Public Building Corporation, Wisconsin University Building Corporation or any similar entity existing or operating for similar purposes pursuant to which such non-profit corporation or such other entity undertakes to finance or provide a facility for use or occupancy by the state or an agency, department or instrumentality thereof.

(e) The legislature shall prescribe all matters relating to the contracting of public debt pursuant to paragraph (a), including: the public purposes for which public debt may be contracted; by vote of a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses of the legislature, the amount of public debt which may be contracted for any class of such purposes, the public debt or other indebtedness which may be funded or refunded; the kinds of notes, bonds or other evidence of public debt which may be issued by the state; and the manner in which the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state shall be determined.

(f) The full faith, credit and taxing power of the state are pledged to the payment of all public debt created on behalf of the state pursuant to this section and the legislature shall provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and installments of principal of all such public debt as the same falls due, but, in any event, suit may be brought against the state to compel such payment.

(g) At any time after January 1, 1972, by vote of a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses of the legislature, the legislature may declare that an emergency exists and submit to the people a proposal to authorize the state to contract a specific amount of public debt for a purpose specified in such proposal, without regard to the limit provided in paragraph (b). Any such authorization shall be effective if approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon. Public debt contracted pursuant to such authorization shall thereafter be deemed to have been contracted pursuant to paragraph (a), but neither such public debt nor any public debt contracted to fund or refund such public debt shall be considered in computing the debt limit provided in paragraph (b). Not more than one such authorization shall be thus made in any 2-year period." Now, therefore be it

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That the foregoing amendment to the constitution is agreed to by this legislature; and, be it further

Resolved, That the foregoing amendment be submitted to a vote of the people at the election to be held on the first Tuesday of April 1969 and if a majority of the voters voting thereon approve this amendment, it shall become a part of the constitution of the state; and, be it further

Resolved, That the question of the ratification of the foregoing amendment be stated on the ballot as follows:

"Shall section 7 of article VIII of the constitution be amended to permit the state to contract public debt, limited in amount, in order to acquire, construct, develop, extend, enlarge or improve land, waters, property, highways, buildings, equipment, or facilities for public purposes, and eliminate reliance on the present method of financing such expenditures through leases dummy building corporations? (NOTE: Adoption of this amendment would end the practice of borrowing through 'dummy' building corporations which, as of 12-1-67, had an outstanding indebtedness of $382,511,869. Beginning 1-1-71 borrowing through state public building corporations would be unconstitutional, and all bonds issued for the state building program would be backed by the full faith and credit of the state.)"

EXPLANATION

Direct state borrowing for public improvements is now prohibited by the State Constitution. In order for the State of Wisconsin to finance many of its public improvements or projects, such as highway construction, building construction, etc., it is necessary to use private, non-profit building corporations. The state pays for these improvements by making rental payments for a period of years to the private corporations for the use of the improvements. When the cost of the improvement is recovered by the corporation, the state retains the improvement and is not obligated to make any further rental payments.

Adoption of this Constitutional Amendment by a "yes" vote will prohibit the state from further financing through the private building corporations and allow direct state borrowing to finance these public improvements.

Adoption of this Constitutional Amendment will authorize state debt but will limit such debt to approximately five per cent of the value of all taxable property in the state.

ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION
Relating to an advisory referendum on state assumption of vocational, technical and adult education costs.

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That there be submitted for advisory purposes only, to the voters of the state at the April 1969 election, the following question:

"Should vocational, technical and adult education be controlled by the state and paid for out of state tax revenues? (NOTE: Vocational, technical and adult education is now controlled locally and principally paid for from local property tax revenues.)"

EXPLANATION
Effect of ratification.

This referendum is advisory only. A "yes" vote indicates that the voter favors state control and financing of vocational, technical and adult education. A "no" vote indicates that the voter favors retention of the present system of vocational, technical and adult education with financing in part from state aids and in part from monies raised in the district through the property tax.

ENROLLED JOINT RESOLUTION

Providing for an advisory referendum on water pollution abatement and outdoor resource preservation and recreational development.

Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That there be submitted, for advisory purposes only, to the voters of the state at the spring election to be held in April 1969, the following questions:

"1. Do you favor a program subject to biennial legislative review of greater state aid to municipalities for accelerated water pollution abatement facilities through the issuance of bonds?"

"2. Do you favor a program subject to biennial legislative review which would expand the state acquisition and development of land program for recreational purposes through the issuance of bonds?"

EXPLANATION
Effect of ratification.

A yes vote to question number one would be advice to the legislature that the voter favors a program which would increase the state aids made available to municipalities for the construction of water pollution facilities. Payment for such aids would be postponed and spread over a future period of time through the issuance of bonds. The majority view of the voters answering this question would not be binding upon the legislature but would be advisory only.

A yes vote to question number two would be advice to the legislature that the voter favors a program which would expand the state acquisition and development of land for camping, fishing, hunting, swimming and other recreational purposes. Payment for such an expanded program would be postponed and spread over a future period through the issuance of bonds. The majority view of the voters answering this question would not be binding upon the legislature but would be advisory only.

I, ROBERT C. ZIMMERMAN, Secretary of State of the State of Wisconsin, DO HEREBY CERTIFY that the above and foregoing proposed constitutional amendments, known as Joint Resolutions Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5, 1969, have been compared by me with the original enrolled joint resolutions on file in this department, and that the same are true copies thereof and of the whole of such joint resolutions.

Sisters Produce Original Low-Budget Safety Film

A cross-shaped tombstone inscribed "You" appears on the screen. "This film isn't about the other guys, it's about you," the narrator intones. The tombstone fades, followed by a long shot of a cemetery.

That's the opening of a new low budget movie filmed not in Hollywood but in Appleton. It was written, produced and directed by two sisters, Dolores and Geraldine Relien, route 1, Appleton.

Titled "Thre Re-Enactment," the film is not a gothic horror tale but a lesson on safety both on and off the job. Most of the filming for the 20 minute movie was done on the premises of the Wisconsin Telephone Company, where Dolores works as a service clerk. Production time was about two months.

The actual idea for making the film came from Judy Eckhart, 552 N. Division, a fellow worker of Dolores. "I always wanted to make a movie," Dolores explains,

"but this idea was really Judy's."

After a monthly safety meeting, Judy decided that "we can do just as well as they can" in making a safety film, and the girls set to work.

Dolores and Geraldine roughed out a script and then enlisted telephone people as actors. Dolores even prevailed upon her fiancé, Leonard Bantz of Menomonee Falls, to supply the voice for the narration.

Dolores did the filming and shot "on-the-job" scenes showing unsafe practices in the offices, equipment rooms, garage and corridors. Then the real fun began with Judy starring as a jaywalker and a bloody victim stretched in front of a car. Tomato catsup, which "looks very realistic on film," served as blood.

Woven into the script were safety statistics. For instance, 31 people were killed in traffic accidents in Outagamie county last year. "It sounds a little ghoulisbut we haunted the cemetery for an open grave," Dolores says. "The ending of the movie is a real tear jerker. We have the widow, all dressed in black, walking to the grave. She knells down. Her black scarf blows in the breeze. She places a rose."

The words are simply, "You may go through life carelessly. You may not care. But what about the loved ones you leave behind?"

The narrative ends with, "Think Be safety minded." The final shot is of "The End" spelled out in black letters taped to a tombstone.

Those who have seen "The Re-Enactment" so far have awarded it raves, and Dolores is delighted with the success of the venture. It was the first real movie that she and her friends had ever attempted.

"I'm a photography nut," she explains. "And I've taken home movies and filmed a lot of weddings. But I've never done a movie with a plot line before. It was fun improvising."

He also has neglected to wear his safety glasses. Judy Eckhart holds the script for one of the scenes in the movie recently filmed at the Wisconsin Telephone Company.

Sheinwold Appetite Curbed By Expert to dummy's queen, and South counts seven easy tricks: three spades, two diamonds, one heart and one club. He needs two additional tricks, and his best chance is to develop the clubs.

A gobble would take the ace of clubs and give up a club, planning to give up another club later, after which dummy's remaining clubs should be good. Unfortunately, the defenders return a spade to dummy's king on being given their first club trick. Then declarer can set up dummy's clubs, but he can never get back to cash them.

Exercises Restraint

South solves his problem by exercising restraint. He must not gobble up the ace of clubs simply because it is there. Instead, he must deliberately give up the first two club tricks to the opponents.

South wins the first trick in dummy with the queen of spades and leads a low club (instead of the ace) from dummy. This play is called a "duck". The defenders return a spade to dummy's king, and declarer must lead another low club from dummy.

South wins the spade return with the ace and leads his third club. At last the time has come to win with dummy's ace. The last two clubs are good, and dummy has the lead. Declarer cashes the good clubs and takes his high red cards to score the game and rubber.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S-J 9 6 5 3, H-K 10, D-Q 9 7, C-Q 10 9. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards. If partner bids two spades, you will jump to four spades. If partner bids two hearts or two diamonds, you will bid two spades. This promises a weak 5-card spade suit with about 8 or 9 points in high cards.

To Clean Badly Stained Coffee Pot

A coffee pot that is badly stained inside can be cleaned by filling it to capacity with hot soapy water and letting it percolate for about 15 minutes. Rinse well, and the pot lining is as clean as new.

First Lady of Australia Is Dynamic Grandmother

EDITOR'S NOTE—Visiting President Nixon and the White House this week are the Australian prime minister, John G. Gorton, and his American-born wife. In a rare personal interview, the former Bettina Brown of Bangor, Maine, describes what it is like to be Australia's First Lady.

By JOHN FITZGERALD
CANNBERRA, Australia (AP) — She has dined with presidents and royalty. She has picked oranges. She has her own personal mini jet. She can't remember her wedding anniversary so she doesn't expect her husband to. Her passion is Oriental studies.

Mrs. John G. Gorton, wife of Australia's prime minister, finds herself "boring." Others don't. She also doesn't care much for interviewers—"I prefer to ask the questions"—but concedes "it's one of the things I have to do."

A dynamic, hard-working grandmother in her early 50s, Mrs. Gorton became mistress of The Lodge, Australia's White House, a year ago. She is the first prime minister's wife Down Under who holds dual American-Australian citizenship, and she is fiercely proud of her adopted land.

When she met her husband in 1934, she was Bettina Brown of Bangor, Maine, a graduate of the University of Maine pursuing studies at the Sorbonne in Paris. Gorton was a student at Oxford and the first Australian she'd ever seen. After holidaying together in Spain they courted by mail. She still has the letters.

When Gorton proposed marriage he said: "We'll never be wealthy but we'll never be bored."

Now after nearly 35 years of marriage, Mrs. Gorton said: "I haven't known boredom. Not boredom from being married. I mean, I did get terribly bored sorting oranges during the war."

Mrs. Gorton finds it hard to be bored now—sometimes too hard. The limousines, the traveling, the political limelight, the ever-inquisitive public eye and the endless official parties and functions can be burdensome to a couple whose greatest enjoyment used to be a quiet cup of tea together.

Once asked if his wife ever regretted his decision to succeed the late Prime Minister Harold Holt, Gorton replied: "I think the honest answer is probably 'Yes.' She was fascinated by her academic work."

But besides her official duties, Mrs. Gorton still finds time to participate in team-wrapping a Malayan-English dictionary, work on her thesis for a master of arts degree at Australian National University, ty, and practice her Javanese and Indonesian on the diplomatic circuit.

When she's home at the Lodge, which isn't often these days, her mornings are spent with correspondence and then with official calls. Although a touch-typist, Mrs. Gorton answers most letters in long-hand. When Parliament is in session, she sometimes slips quietly into the galleries to hear the debates.

A member of the Liberal party since her husband entered politics, Mrs. Gorton sits on political platforms at meetings but stoutly declares: "I never discuss my husband or his politics in public."

In private, she's a tough critic, said the prime minister. "If she says a thing is all right, I know it is all right."

marks their third trip to the White House.

Coming from a family of Maine Republicans, Mrs. Gorton left the United States before she was 21 and never voted. She saw the White House for the first time in 1963 when she and her husband, then a senator and Australia's navy minister, were taken on a VIP tour. Last year, they came at the invitation of President Johnson.

The Gortons relax by playing croquet—"We cheat a little," says Mrs. Gorton—or simply enjoy a few quiet minutes over a drink on the patio off the drawing room before dinner. They spend summer lunch hours swimming in their pool.

Mrs. Gorton describes herself as a good spectator at golf or tennis. She enjoys a brisk walk to visit her neighbors, likes to play the piano but rarely finds time, and admits to sneaking an occasional cigarette while listening to the pop songs of The Seekers and Burl Ives.

Housework and cooking are things of the past for her, but she is no stranger to either, having raised two sons, now attorneys, and a daughter, now an IBM computer engineer. She has a brother, Arthur Brown of Concord, Mass., but doesn't know if she'll see him during her stay in Washington.

"He's pretty busy as a 'business doctor' there," she said. "He runs a 'think-tank.'"

Although Mrs. Gorton doesn't cook now, she brags of having the "world's best" recipe for oxtail and adds: "My bacon and oranges on toast is wonderful for breakfast or lunch."

"I don't follow French or Italian recipes. I prefer to stick to the best materials and cook them plainly. We have the best fruit, vegetables and meats in this country."

How to Figure the Rate When Credit Shopping

If you're going to borrow monthly payment to find the money or buy on credit, you need to know how to figure the true cost of the loan.

Clear disclosure of the annual interest rate by the lender will help you compare the rates. Truth-in-Lending Act goes into effect July 1, 1969.

You can determine true credit costs by finding out the dollar cost and the true annual interest rate.

To figure the dollar cost, you first need to add all charges made. These may include finance and service charges and life, health and accident, or property insurance. After getting this total, subtract the cash price of what you're buying or the money you actually receive from the lender. The difference will be your dollar cost for using credit.

Act to Require Disclosure

You need to know three figures to find the true annual rate of interest. First, is the amount that you have been advanced, which is the unpaid balance. Next, you must figure the total finance charge which includes service costs and other fees. The third essential piece of information is the period of time to repay.

It may take some calculations to get these three figures. As an example, for a simple mail order credit purchase, you have to add the cash price and the finance or easy payment charge together and divide by the

Use Salt on Bottom Of Frying Pan

You can stop those frightening frying-pan "explosions" by sprinkling a little salt in the pan before frying. This will keep the fat from splattering and at the same time your stove will be a lot easier to clean.

Shelf paper secured with Scotch tape instead of thumbtacks is much less likely to tear.

Benefit Circle Hears Plans for Youth Home

Benefit Circle of The King's Daughters heard the Rev. James Feay, a United Methodist minister from Shawano, discuss Providence Homes, Inc. at its Tuesday evening meeting at the home of Mrs. C. B. Sitterson, 108 E. Alton St. The circle had voted previously to donate $500 to the group established in the Shawano area to provide home care for juveniles. The Rev. Mr. Feay is a member of the new board of directors of the non-profit, non-sectarian, non-racial group. The Menominee County Social Services and the Neighborhood Youth Corps have promised cooperation in the form of beds and Menominee Indian leaders, all of whom are concerned with Indian juvenile problems. The minister told the group immediate plans to discuss with Indian families what they feel are the needs. This hopefully can be accomplished during a summer program involving several seminarians who will conduct a house-to-house survey, he said. A group foster home for girls is the desire of Providence Homes, with a home for boys and girls as the ultimate consideration. The Menominee County Social Services and the Neighborhood Youth Corps have promised cooperation in the form of beds and Menominee Indian leaders, all of whom are concerned with Indian juvenile problems.

Accessories on the Scene

Designed for soft spring fashions, new accessories make an exciting impression. It starts with the shoe and rises, non-stop. At the foot, you see black and tortoise patent leather or pale deep shades in reptile and silk. Whatever, the shoe may have a more slender line; it will have a higher heel but will not be burdened with hardware. As the eye travels, pale hosiery comes to view. And sheer, colored nylons matched shoe or costume. The hand wears a short white glove. The elegant hand carries a classic envelope purse. Or the shoulder swings a small pouch with long, multiple chains. Filling throatlines are ropes of pearls and twists of antiqued ropes. Big, bold earrings, finger rings and bracelets are jeweled scene-stealers. When there's a belt on a dark outfit, it's white leather. Otherwise it's plie, enamel, meshed metal. Somewhere there's a scarf, if not fluttering from the fingers. At the top, the hat is butterfly or bowed gardenia. But to see the whole picture, you have to see it in color. For instance:

With the big smash — a spring-brown coat-dress — a white felt fedora, white belt and gloves, tortoise patent shoes and envelope, natural sheers, and gold galore. To solve the riddle of extra inches around your middle, send today for my leaflet, Midriff slimmers. It contains quick, easy reducing exercises for slimming diaphragm, waist and abdomen. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin. (Copyright, 1969)

Flattery, anyone? You're bound to attract it in abundance when you wear this gently shaped dress coat of pure silk shantung. Dispenser Waters Your Plants While You're Vacationing

By EARL ARONSON
An automatic moisture dispenser will ease your mind about the welfare of your plants while you are vacationing. The new item takes the worry out of watering. A reservoir built into the double walls of the container meters water to plants as they need it.

The hanging basket will add a new note to your indoor or outdoor decor. One filling of the reservoir will last up to 10 days.

The outer wall is made of strong plastic, in a translucent pastel green. The basket is 13 3/4 inches in diameter and 7 inches deep.

It would be decorative with an arrangement of vining and upright plants, suspended from the eaves or the ceiling or from a wall or column bracket. Sprays of hanging petunias would be attractive in the patio.

The basket also would be useful as a tub on the ground.

Your Problems

Leaving Husband No Answer to Problem

BY ANN LANDERS

I hate to be trite, but I'll start this letter like so many others have.

DEAR ANN: I never thought I'd be writing. I'm a lady Pr.D., but don't get the idea I'm brilliant. I'm not. My family managed to keep me in school until I was 25 years old. After 22 years of marriage I'm ready to confess I'm a flop as a wife and no howling success as a mother. My husband has always been an excellent provider but beyond that he has contributed nothing to his family. I've tried, without success, to preserve the illusion that father is head of the family. I fooled no one.

Our older boy is currently dodging the draft in Europe. Our eldest daughter married a non-man just like her father. She lived with her husband for all of two weeks and is now at home trying to mend her life.

My question: Should I leave my husband before our remaining three kids are completely wrecked? Or should I stay and tell them their father is a passive weakling and Mother-in-laws, both hers and his, should assume a guest status if most of their troubles stem from this? Please help me.—California Pulp.

Dear California: You needn't tell your children anything. If they are six years of age or older, they already know.

My advice is to get some counseling for those kids. And you could use some therapy yourself. Leaving your husband would solve no problems. It would only add to those you now have, which are considerable.

In my opinion this is crazy. I'd love to have my mother-in-law pop in unexpectedly and telephone me just to chat. What do you think about her weird "code." — Down-to-Earth Bride.

Dear Bride: I think you've got a smart mother-in-law and high class worries. Count your blessings, Petunia.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My girl's high school and mine are bitter enemies on the basketball court. Soon the two teams will meet for the city championship. If I sit on her side I will have to keep my mouth shut or be the only one in the bleachers for my team... She says she won't go to the game unless she can set on her school's side and root for her team.

What's the solution? — His or Hers

Dear His: The solution is to meet after the game. You'll both have a better time if you sit with your school pals and root for your own team..

Give in or lose him... when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate)

Knit it yourself

Knit Spring Parade

BY LOIS HOLMES

Pert tulips parade their knit beauty up and down the knit panel that makes you look like a "long-stemmed" beauty yourself. Did you ever knit something to save for special occasions? You'll probably want to do the same with this dress: it's so lovely.

Garter stitch and yarn overs are the main stitches used in the panel. Since the test is all in stockinette stitch, you may want to knit the front panel by hand, but convert the rest of the pattern to machine knitting for your knitting machines and then seam up the pieces so that you can wear it even quicker. you can wear it even quicker.

Although the pattern is printed in hand-knit instructions only, helpful suggestions are also given the machine knitter, if she wants to use both her talents. Sizes 8-16 (34 to 42 inches) are all included in each pattern.

To order, Hand Knit-501 Tulip Bud Dress, send $1 in currency, check or money order to Lois Holmes of California, Post-Crescent, Box 6002, Inglewood, Calif. 90302.

Please print your name, address, zip code and pattern numbers plainly. Send 15 cents for each pattern for first-class mail and special handling, or 25 cents each for air mail.

DEAR LOIS: I recently bought the most beautiful synthetic yarn I've ever seen. It is lightweight, the colors are beautiful and the white is the "snowiest" white I've ever seen. I purchased a box and started to knit with great enthusiasm. Am I ever disappointed! This may sound silly but the yarn "hangs" on every tiny bit of dry skin or cuticle on my hands. I've always prided myself on the condition of my hands. I even use rubber gloves when cleaning and washing dishes. Hand cream helped a little but then it did not allow the yarn to flow smoothly as I knitted. There is no pleasure in knitting with this yard. It even puts my nerves on edge. I realize you will not be able to speak against any particular brand of yarn in your column but can you give me any help? Have you ever heard of this before? — Erin F.

Dear Erin: Indeed I have heard of this before. I was sent samples as gifts from the company and fell in love with the dazzling white as you did. I ordered enough to make myself a dress. In the meantime, I hand-knitted a swatch from the samples sent to me so I could match the gauge on my knitting machine but use the pattern then for both hand and machine knitters. I had the same experience you did with the "hand" of the yarn. By the time I had the swatch finished, I realized I would never recommend it to a hand-knitter simply because they would not enjoy knitting it.

Upon further testing with a finished garment we made on the knitting machine — and a hand-knitted garment furnished to me by the company — I was more disappointed than ever and have never used that yarn in patterns. I strive to use well-known, well-tested yarns in my patterns that are readily available to you.

I've talked to other knitters with the same disappointment in regard to this yarn. I suggest we all let a manufacturer know as soon as possible any problems we have. They want to know. Their aim is service.

Perhaps you can exchange any full skeins you have left. I urge you to write the manufacturer. The fabric they make from this yarn is fantastic. Perhaps the yarn simply needs further development.

Fashion Influences Imaginative Approach to New Rug Designs

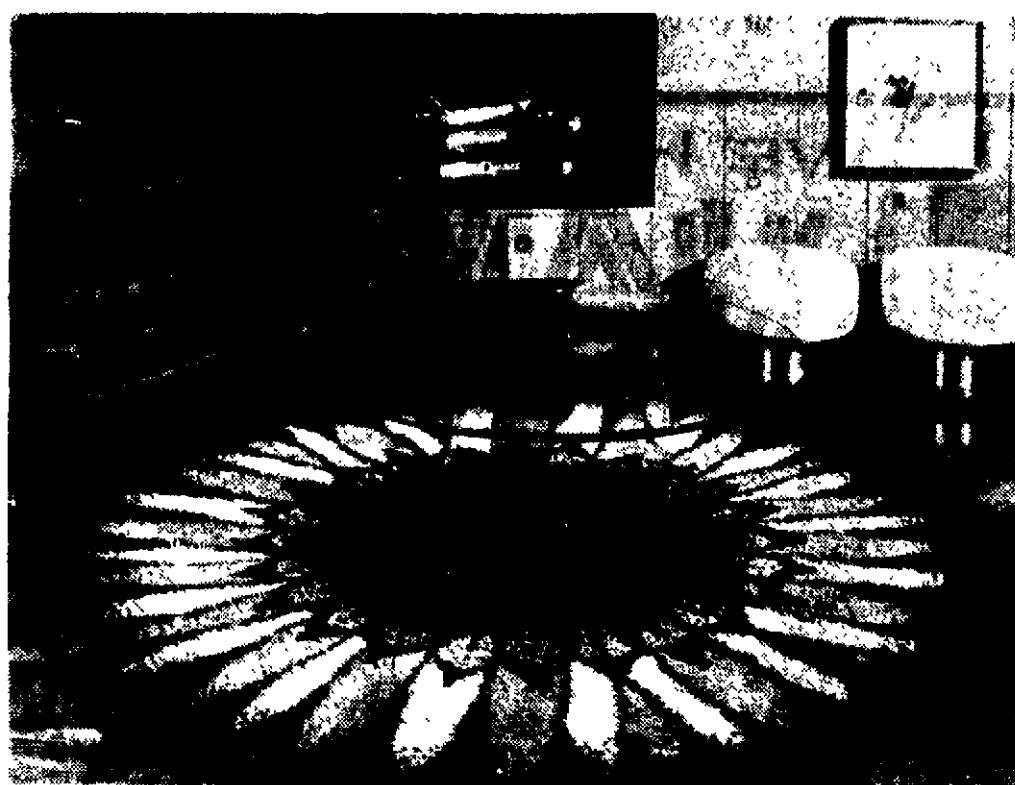

What's sauce for fashion is rapidly becoming sauce for furnishings too. The freedom of choice we enjoy in our clothing today has helped liberate the colors and patterns we can buy for our homes as well. This was very evident at the recent home furnishings market in Chicago where buyers came from all over the country to look at manufacturers' offerings for the year to come. It was particularly true in the floor covering industry which showed retailers the biggest design selection ever. Designers had evidently had a field day with the area rugs which particularly lend themselves to bolder colors and patterns. Most popular were the geometric designs which were seen everywhere, but flowing lines with a lot of movement were running the geometrics a close second.

Many Textures
Although the shaggy look is gaining more attention than ever, there were plenty of other textures in the picture.

Even the Scandinavians — famous for their deep-piled rya rugs — are now showing flat-surfaced rugs with bold geometric and flowing patterns, such as those made by Egetaepper of Denmark. The Ege rugs have a flat surface because the wool yarns are woven with a crewelwork effect and appear the same on both sides so that the rugs can be reversed. The Danes, however, have not forgotten their favorite shaggy ryas. The new ones shown by Ege were the first round ryas available here, the result of new techniques that have adapted the rya looms to weave the circular shape in addition to the traditional rectangle. Their patterns are as colorful as ever.

Other new and adventurous departures in carpet and rugs

orange, brown and blue with the typical deep-pile surface of the Scandinavian rya rugs.

abound. A flocked carpet from Ludlow won the American Institute of Interior Designers International Design Award and more flocked carpets were introduced by other manufacturers at this market. Printing is another technique newly applied to carpets by a number of manufacturers including Barwick. World Carpets showed a needlepunched carpet with a flat surface meant to be pasted to the wall, and Amtico matched rugs to floor tiles for the first time.

All the innovations, and more importantly, their acceptance by the consumer, have a great deal to do with the breakaway from convention that has been seen in fashion, according to a survey made by "Home Furnishings Daily," the industry newspaper. Although it is not necessarily a direct influence, the effect is the same in the end because the fashion revolution has conditioned us to accept

"new" colors and new color combinations, in unconventional fabrics. Apparently we can no longer be shocked by any innovation in color, pattern and texture because we are already quite familiar with even wilder colors and patterns in the clothes we wear or see others wearing.

There is an "anything goes" feeling in the air and it is good to know that we shall be able to find furnishings with which to give that truly individual touch to decor.

The Geometric Design and flat-weave surface gives a sleek, chic look to floors. The rug, of wool, with its two-colored patterns of straight lines and circles, can be reversed for a change of effect.

The Ailing House Bleach Will Help Keep Grout White

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: The white grout between the dark slates in my entryway look very nice, but keeping it white is a matter of much scrubbing. Is there any easier way? — Brookfield, Wis.

A: Good old chlorine bleach will speed the job greatly. Add it to the scrubbing water and see how much faster it works. For real stubborn spots, paint it on straight, using a small artist's brush.

Q: The goose neck trap under the kitchen sink is becoming so built up with lime that draining is seriously slowed up. A friend told me vinegar would dissolve the lime. Is this true? What else can I do? — Milwaukee.

A: Forget the vinegar, it's a waste of time. If this trap is a slip-fit, remove and replace the entire unit; very inexpensive, or try a strong drain cleaner several times. If no real luck, have plumber replace the trap section. I highly recommend that you consult a water-conditioning firm about water softening equipment before the rest of your piping is affected.

Our friend Mrs. George Dankert, Mukwonago, Wis., contributes another successfully cleaned coal bin. As follows:

"I just cleaned a bin that had stoker coal for many years. I used about a quart of Bruce wax cleaner. Put half on the floor and roll it on with a paint roller. Let it stay an hour. Wipe up with old rags or paper towels. If it doesn't all wipe up, repeat.

"When it is all wiped up, wet the walls and wash with trisodium phosphate. I used a strong solution. Then do the same to the floor.

"There was no sign it had ever had coal in it." Many thanks for the report, Mrs. Dankert.

Traffic Problem Cited Prange's Request to Vacate Alley Denied

The Appleton plan commission request was that vacation of the alley would create "a serious traffic problem" on Oneida Street.

If the street would be closed along the area occupied by the Prange store and its loading dock, huge transport trucks would have to make deliveries via Oneida Street.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff said that traffic congestion on Oneida Street could be very serious. He said there is no question but that it would pose present and long-range problems.

The commission was told that an estimated 15 trucks a day, mostly in the morning, now make deliveries to the Prange Company using Midway Road.

It was suggested to range officials that they might consider nighttime deliveries but they frowned on this.

Members of the plan commission said while they appreciated the fact that the Prange Company was "very responsible and community-minded and had always conducted itself in the highest caliber," felt, however, that it would not be right for the general public's interest to impair the traffic flow in that part of downtown.

City planner Jack Hetu said that he felt the request should be denied explaining that the traffic congestion was an "obvious impairment."

He also pointed out that the requested vacation of Midway was not similar to that of Gimbels Brothers which is building a new store a block to the east and had received permission to vacate an alleyway.

The commission also felt that any traffic congestion by trucks on Oneida Street would hurt the proposed Oneida Street Bridge project and future plans for improving the movement of traffic in and through the downtown area with Appleton and Oneida streets as key carriers.

A Symbol of Mourning, the Stars and Stripes in front of Columbus School in Appleton flutters at half-staff honoring late President Dwight D. Eisenhower. In 1954 President Eisenhower signed a proclamation that the flag should fly at half-staff for 30 days after the death of any President. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Taxes, School Board Policies Expected to Pull Voters to Polls

Campaign Quiet but Issues Have Stirred Public Interest

Taxes and school board fiscal policies will be underlying issues when Appleton voters go to the polls Tuesday.

Pre-election campaigning was virtually nil for the three board of education posts but City Clerk Eldon Broehm predicted that 55 per cent of the registered voters will turn out.

Aldermanic contestants in the 1st, 3rd, 9th, 13th, 16th and 19th Wards are expected to trigger a good vote in those areas.

The heavy vote forecast was in sharp contrast to those of state election officials who say about one-third of the electorate will go to the polls.

The six-way race for three board of education positions will have top billing locally and in those portions of the Towns of Grand Chute, Menasha, Buchanan and Harrison attached to the Appleton Public School District.

Six Injured As Car Rolls Several Times

COMBINED LOCKS — Six people were hurt at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday when an auto rolled over several times on Prospect Street.

Police said a car driven by Bonnie VanOoyen, 20, 213 N. Meade St., Appleton was traveling west when she lost control of the car. The vehicle turned over several times in the roadway about one-eighth mile west of Ryan School.

Hospitalized at Kaukauna Community Hospital were Christy Pennings, 18, State Street, Combined Locks, held for observation; Miss VanOoyen, with lacerations of the ankle and a bump on the head; Jack Meyer, 19, 712 E. Dennison St., observation of possible abdominal injuries, and John Kelnhofer, 16, route 4, Appleton, who was examined and released.

Marian Meyer, 18, 224 Kamps St., and Thomas Schilling, 21, 318 Linwood Lane, Neenah, were treated and released at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

Police had to chop the doors off the car to free the young people. Miss Meyer and Schilling were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by the Kaukauna ambulance. The other four young people were taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital in squad cars.

Little Chute, Kimberly and county police assisted at the accident.

While investigating the accident Peter Schilling, 18, a brother of one of the passengers, arrived at the scene and became abusive to police and ambulance attendants. He was taken to the county jail and charged with disorderly conduct.

George Thyssen, and for constable, with incumbent John Arft opposed by David Neubert.

Town clerk Leslie Wolft and treasurer Eugene Paltzer are unopposed.

The polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. at the town hall and the American Legion clubhouse on Bluemound Drive.

Legality Questioned Committee Agrees to Review Car Rental Space at Airport

After receiving a letter questioning the legality of its action, the Outagamie County Board's airport committee agreed this morning to reconsider their decision to allow only one car rental agency to lease counter space at the airport terminal.

The committee will meet April 7 with representatives of Avis and Hertz car rental agencies to explain why it was allowing only National Car Rental to maintain a counter within the terminal. National's one-year contract expires May 1, 1969, and the committee agreed to offer James Gustman, National's local representative, another contract.

Avis and Hertz representatives were told several weeks ago that they could maintain only telephones and a certain number of car stalls because of a space shortage at the airport terminal. Both firms rejected offers to lease counter space a year ago.

The local Avis representative, Oshkosh Auto and Truck Rental Inc., Oshkosh, sought reconsideration in early March. The matter was later referred to the firm's Milwaukee-based attorney.

Violation of Law

Ralph J. Podell, the Milwaukee attorney, wrote the county board, indicating he felt the county may be creating a monopoly, and its action may "constitute a violation of the antitrust laws."

Podell sought the meeting and indicated he felt the county could profit more by allowing three firms in the terminal.

The committee has contended there is not enough space for three counters, and that planning traffic is insufficient to support three agencies.

They reiterated this view this morning.

Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, questioned: "Where was he (Avis) the other year" when the committee three times sought proposals from the firm.

Too Crowded

Supv. John Dietz, Appleton, committee chairman, noted the three could not make a profit at the airport. He also said the airport is too crowded during peak periods, especially during the early morning flights.

Dietz said if the county gave the other two agencies the 50 square feet that Podell recommended, it would crowd the terminal even more.

Committeemen suggested they might go along with a plan for the agencies to build out from the terminals at their own expense.

Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, warned the committee the Federal Aviation Agency might not condone the county keeping the other two agencies out of the terminal even for another year.

"You can't wait; you see how strict the FAA is on your fixed-base operators," he commented.

Podell asked for a three-year contract, beginning May 1, for 10 per cent of the net income or $250 per month, whichever is the greater.

Avis Representative

Miss Lois Johnson, local representative of Avis, was at the meeting this morning but left before the committee discussed Podell's letter.

In other business, the committee learned that contractors interested in bidding on approximately 4,700 feet of taxiways for the airport's north-west-south-east runway will be able to pick up the engineer's plan after Wednesday in the county clerk's office.

The bids will be opened at 11 a.m. April 17 at the courthouse, when the committee meets.

Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Chicago-based engineers, prepared the plans for the taxiways.

The committee also agreed to build a small building of concrete block or other material, depending on the lower price. The lowest bid will be accepted. The building, to be about 8 feet by 8 feet, will house the approach lighting system lights and regulators.

Grand Chute to Elect New Town Chairman

Grand Chute voters will elect a new town chairman in Tuesday's spring election.

Vying for the post are Ira M. Livingston, incumbent town supervisor, and Arthur Lecker, former town chairman.

The race developed when present chairman Tom Thorson decided not to seek another term.

Four candidates are seeking two seats on the town board. They are incumbent supervisor Edward Ziegler, Thomas Foxgrover, Bernard Tillman and Richard R. Van Handel.

Other races have developed for assessor, with incumbent John R. Stevens opposed by

Youth Enters Plea of Guilty Sentence Is Delayed For LU Student On Drug Charge

Horace Marchant, 20, an Evanston, Ill., student at Lawrence University, this morning pleaded guilty to a reduced drug charge.

Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr ordered a presentence investigation by the State Department of Health and Social Services. He did not set a date for sentencing. Marchant is free on bond.

Marchant originally was charged with selling a dangerous drug without a prescription on Feb. 10, in Appleton. The charge was brought by a young Appleton Police Department informant.

An affidavit of prejudice was brought against Judge Nick F. Schaefer when Marchant made his first court appearance, last month.

Charge Dismissed

Dohr dismissed the original charge, ruling that the criminal complaint brought against the youth was too vague in that it did not state the specific dangerous drug involved or to whom the drug was alleged to have been sold.

The district attorney's office then charged Marchant with possessing a dangerous drug without a prescription. The second charge constitutes a misdemeanor. The original charge was a felony.

The Wisconsin State Crime Laboratory, which examined a pill Marchant had, found it to contain an amphetamine, police said.

Three Schools Entered Over Weekend Six Youths Held in Vandalism, Theft Spree

Six teen-agers, two each from Appleton, Kimberly and Little Chute, are being held in juvenile detention in the Outagamie County Jail in connection with a recent wave of vandalism, thefts and burglaries in the three communities.

At least two of the youths are believed to have been involved in the theft of money from parking meters in Appleton during the past three weeks. Several also were implicated in the recent spree of vandalism and thefts from vending machines in area schools.

The youths were taken into custody Sunday, following combined investigations by Little Chute, Appleton and Kimberly police. Authorities said they questioned some of the youths into custody a short time later at a nearby restaurant.

On the basis of information received from him, the second youth was apprehended later in Kimberly. One youth admitted they wanted to break into the store to steal liquor. Police said the youth taken into custody at the restaurant carried a roll of nickles and two screw drivers.

School Break-Ins

The youths are believed to be the ones who broke into Appleton High School-East early Sunday and into Roosevelt Junior High School late Saturday night.

Kimberly police allege that some of the youths were involved in a burglary and related vandalism incident early Sunday at Kimberly High School.

At East, which was the target said late this morning that a damage estimate had not yet been made.

Roosevelt Junior High School cafeteria were broken into and attempts made to get into several more. Entry to the school was gained by smashing a window near the southeast doors.

Police believe a tire iron was used to smash a wall clock, which stopped at 1:06 a.m.

An undetermined amount of money was taken from the vending machines.

Airport Terminal to be Studied in Twin Cities

NEENAH — Taxpayers at the north end of county will have an opportunity to see proposed plans for the county airport's proposed $2.1 million terminal building and pose their own questions at a public meeting next month.

An information meeting has been set up for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 24, at Neenah High School auditorium by Supv. George Christoph, Neenah.

Supv. Kenneth Seefeld, Oshkosh, member of the county's aviation committee and vice president of the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce, will bring airport terminal architect Drake Rowe, the filmed facts and the model of the proposed terminal to the meeting.

The city councils in Neenah and Menasha have assured Christoph they will be available to meet that night.

The scale model of the proposed terminal building will be on display in the First National Bank of Neenah window for one week prior to the public meeting.

There are a number of serious questions about the airport which county residents should be asking these next few weeks, according to the Neenah supervisor.

Among them:

Can a 96,000 square foot, $2.1 million terminal be self-supporting? Should the county finance the building by revenue bonds, or from direct taxes? Would a cocktail lounge and restaurant serve the entire county? Is a 700 capacity auditorium in the basement of the terminal a facility which the county should provide and the total population find useful? How will a larger terminal and airport serve the Fox Valley residents? Should North Central Airlines be the lone carrier servicing the county airport?

Boy Hurt In Fire At Home

MENASHA — Investigation continued today to determine the circumstances of a fire in a Madison Street home that send a 4-year-old boy to Theda Clark Hospital for treatment of smoke inhalation.

Hospital authorities said Michael Slowatyniec, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Slowatyniec, 206 Madison St., was in good condition this morning.

Firemen said he was found in a second-story room. He did not suffer burns, a hospital spokesman said.

The fire was concentrated in the area of the coal-burning furnace in the basement of the home, according to firemen.

It was suspected that someone had tended the fire and streets failed to latch the furnace door, streets.

When firemen arrived at the scene after being summoned at 8:14 a.m., they were told Michael was in the basement. Firemen used smoke masks to enter the home, finally locating him in the second-floor bedroom.

Airman to March for Ike

NEENAH — The son of a local shoe store manager will march with an Air Force unit Wednesday taking part in the funeral of former President Eisenhower at Abilene, Kan.

Staff Sgt. Roger Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kimball, 981 Bridgewood

Drive, will participate in the funeral drill with a 120-man formation from Forbes Air Force Base, Kan.

Kimball, whose father is manager of Tuchscherer's Shoe Store, Menasha, has been in the Air Force about 4 years. He is a Neenah High School graduate.

Kimberly Teachers Request Mediation

KIMBERLY — With the Kimberly Education Association (KEA) and school board about five per cent or $45,910 apart on a new wage contract demand after four months of bargaining, KEA has requested mediation from the state.

Teacher demands to date would cost the district an additional $158,802 for the coming school year, according to board members. This represents a 16.1 per cent increase over present costs.

A proposal by the board would represent an 11.4 per cent increase and cost the district an additional $112,892.

The KEA request would mean an average increase of $1,291 per teacher whereas the board offer would represent an increase of $917.82 per teacher, according to school administrators.

The KEA, in requesting a mediator from the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission, (WERC) said, "the negotiation teams have not been able to reach an agreement in areas of salary schedule, extra-curricular pay, extension of contracts, insurance coverage, length of contract, sabbatical leave and credit payment for credits beyond the minimum degree."

$6,800 to Start

A base of $6,800 per year has been requested by teachers to be raised to $7,050 for teachers with bachelor's degree plus 15 credits, $7,150 for a bachelor's degree plus 30 credits and $7,300 for a master's degree. The board of education is offering a $6,700 base for a bachelor's degree, $6,950 for a bachelor's plus 15 credits and a $7,200 base for a master's degree.

Increments through the fifteenth year for a bachelor's and 17 years for a master's degree are also requested by the KEA, while the board offers increments through the fourteenth step for a bachelor's and the 17th step for a masters degree. The KEA is also requesting 80 per cent of insurance paid, an additional $6,300 for extra-curricular activities payments to teachers and an increase of $960 for driver education teachers.

The counter-offer of the board would grant 70 per cent insurance coverage, $1,000 increase in extra curricular activity payment and a $480 increase for driver education.

The KEA requests that summer school teachers be paid on the basis of regular salary rather than a flat fee per hour.

Additional negotiating sessions have not been scheduled and probably will not be called until an answer is received from the WERC.

Heavy Vote Expected on New School

$4.5 Million Bond Question Could Bring 70 Per Cent to Polls

NEENAH - MENASHA — A predicted turnout of 70 per cent of Neenah voters will go to the polls Tuesday to cast their ballot because of the $4.5 million high school bond issue referendum question.

Based on past experience when a hot referendum issue faced Neenah voters, R. V. Hauser, clerk-controller, predicted about 6,350 Neenah voters will go to the polls.

"Last year when voters had to decide on the referendum on city manager versus mayor government issue, 80 per cent turned out," he said, "but in addition to the referendum, there was a hot race for the mayor's office."

This year there are a total of 9,068 registered voters in the city. During the past two years the poll lists in Neenah have increased over 1,000.

In Neenah, there are two aldermanic races in the Third and Seventh Wards, plus four candidates for three open spots on the school board. Menasha voters will elect seven aldermen in six wards plus two school board commissioners.

Liveliest races in Menasha have concentrated on the school board posts and contests involving five candidates each in the Fourth and Sixth wards.

Two school commissioners will be chosen, but the name of only one candidate, veteran commissioner Mrs. Fern Gaertner, appears on the voting machines in the city and Town of Menasha.

In the Fourth Ward in Menasha, voters will cast two votes

In the Sixth Ward, the incumbent alderman whose term ended this year also resigned, prompting another vigorous 5-way contest involving a police patrolman, two former aldermen and a man who led Mayor John Klein's re-election campaign a year ago.

In Neenah's Third Ward, Michael G. Ellis is challenging Ald. Peter Fara. Seventh Ward Alderman Donald Gomoll is being opposed by Donald Steber.

Three incumbents, Mrs. Andrea Bletzing, Dr. John Wilson, and Frank X. Hochholzer, are seeking re-election. Stanley Drews is the fourth candidate.

There are two-way races in the other four Menasha wards. Treasurer W. W. Edwards is expected to win another term running without opposition.

Polls in both cities will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Most of the important components, for instance, are in a drawer that slides out.

And the works themselves are different, too. They are modules that plug in and plug out. Each module is a mini-circuit with its own job to do. There is a picture module, a color module, a sound module, and so on. You can look around on those modules for tubes, but in the Quasar chassis, the only thing that looks like a tube is the rectifier. For the rest of it, transistors and other solid state devices have replaced tubes.

The Quasar is designed this way for dependable performance.

morning that between $300 and $500 in change was taken from the meters, most of which were located in the city's parking lots. The meters also sustained considerable damage, he said.

Window Smashed

Four of the youths are believed to have broken into Kimberly High School early Sunday, and caused about $300 damage.

A rear, plate glass window was broken to gain entry, according to Kimberly Police Chief Donald Schemeck. Light fixtures and glass in the trophy case were smashed and the contents of three fire extinguishers sprayed inside the building.

Schemeck said a vending machine was broken and the main office was ransacked.

Little Chute Police Chief Robert Nechodom said several of the youths are believed to have been involved in two burglaries this month at Little Chute High School.

On March 22, entry was gained into the school by breaking a rear window, but nothing was believed to have been taken.

Money Stolen

Five days later, the school was entered and about $70 was taken from two desk drawers in the shop area and $75 from two vending machines.

Damage to vending machines at the various schools that were burglarized in recent weeks in Appleton, Kimberly, and Little Chute could run into several thousand dollars, police said.

A spokesman for Karras Vending Service said this morning that damage totaled about $1,500 on only two machines that were pried open last week at Einstein Junior High School.

Several of the machines had to be returned to the factory for repairs, he said. Money obtained from the school machines is expected to total several hundred dollars.

Police in all three communities said they will continue to question the six youths. A detective said it is possible more youths will be taken into custody as the investigation continues.

Limited Viet Cong, N. Vietnamese Action Forecast Because of Loses

SAIGON (AP) — Heavy losses and allied blocking actions are forcing the Viet Cong command to reassess plans for its five-week-old spring offensive, U.S. military analysts said today.

Officers said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had lost more than 6,000 men during March in the 3rd Corps area stretching from the Cambodia border through Saigon to the South China Sea.

The analysts said the enemy during the first two weeks of April probably would limit his action to rocket and mortar attacks while he reassesses his plans and gets replacements and supplies.

The 52-hour walkout was halted shortly before 3 a.m. Sunday when the Common Council and the firemen agreed on a new contract, boosting wages for firefighters to a penny an hour less than comparable pay for policemen.

It also provides for amnesty to firemen who had walked out Thursday despite state law prohibiting strikes by municipal employees.

No major fire occurred in the city of 158,000 population during the walkout, the first by municipal employees in the city's history.

Doomsday Prediction Californians 'Shaken Up'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Against all scientific evidence prophets of doom say April is the month when a super earthquake will topple half of California into the Pacific.

Scientists say this talk is ridiculous and that while the danger of a major earthquake exists, no one can say when it will happen.

Nonetheless, nerves are getting jumpier day by day.

Here are some symptoms indicating the spread of California's newest attack of earthquake jitters:

Children are Disturbed

—Los Angeles Civil Defense Coordinator William Frank says he has received more than 1,200 phone calls and 500 letters since early March requesting pamphlets on what to do in case of an earthquake.

—A spokesman for Los Angeles city schools says children have become so disturbed by widespread rumors that many teachers have taken time out from studies to review disaster procedures for their classes.

—California Institute of Technology seismologists issued two long releases in less than three weeks attempting to put public fears to rest.

—Eleven members of the Fellowship of the Ancient Mind, a psychic cult that claims to be 6,000 years old, showed up at City Hall March 11 in flowing robes and clerical collars seeking a salvage permit that would allow them to help restore the city after an earthquake they said they expected soon.

—A calypso tune called "Day After Day" which forecast imminent disaster has jumped in three weeks from 20th to 7th place on radio station KHJ's compilation of retail record sales.

—Several small religious and hippie groups have announced their intention to move to other states. Two religious groups left for Missouri and Tennessee and a hippie tribe reportedly moved to New Mexico.

—Publishers report a bonanza in magazine articles and books dealing with fictional forecasts of a cataclysm. One of them, "The Last Days of the Late Great State of California," has become a best-seller in Los Angeles bookstores.

The book picks December as the month of catastrophe, but for some reason April is the popular choice of rumors.

The only April date which conceivably might have some scientific basis is April 16. On that date the sun and moon will be lined up, exerting a gravitational pull that will make the earth's crust bulge a foot or more in their direction.

Last March 7 Dr. C. Hewitt Dix, Caltech geophysicist, issued a report saying, "These gravitational forces may have touched off the disastrous July 21, 1952, earthquake in California's Kern County." That magnitude 7.7 quake and its aftershocks cost 14 lives and $60 million damage.

But the report also pointed out that the sun and moon line up once every 27 days and there is no way of predicting when or where this tidal force may trigger the stresses that lead to earthquakes.

William T. Pecora, director of the U.S. Geological Survey, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee March 25 it is inevitable that California will be hit in this century by an earthquake of the force of the one which wrecked San Francisco in 1906.

'Suite' of Three Cells Being Built for Sirhan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A first-degree murder, it will decide the penalty—death or life imprisonment.

Sirhan would be confined to three adjoining cells—each about 10 by 15 feet. In one would be a kitchen with a stainless steel stove where uniformed guards would cook Sirhan's meals. Most prisoners eat in a central kitchen. Sirhan's quarters, Guthrie said, would "eliminate the risk of someone trying to poison his food."

In the second cell, a living room with television set, Sirhan would receive visitors. He would sleep in the third cell. A bathroom is off the kitchen.

Full-time security guards would be posted near Sirhan's quarters, Guthrie said, and the cost of imprisoning him would probably far outstrip the $2,800 yearly spent on average prisoners.

If Sirhan is acquitted, "we'll find other uses for the cells," Guthrie said.

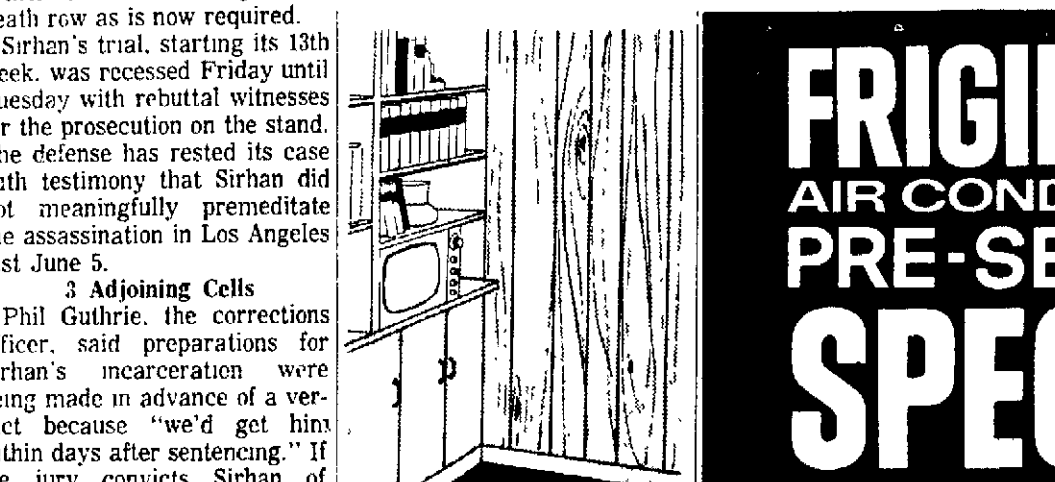

Walled-Off Suite

The walled-off suite of cells is being prepared at the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, near Sacramento. A bill pending in the California Legislature would permit Sirhan, if sentenced to death, to stay there rather than at San Quentin's death row as is now required.

Sirhan's trial, starting its 13th week, was recessed Friday until Tuesday with rebuttal witnesses for the prosecution on the stand. The defense has rested its case with testimony that Sirhan did not meaningfully premeditate the assassination in Los Angeles last June 5.

3 Adjoining Cells

Phil Guthrie, the corrections officer, said preparations for Sirhan's incarceration were being made in advance of a verdict because "we'd get him within days after sentencing." If the jury convicts Sirhan of

Kennedy Plans Not to Oppose Muskie on His Banquet Circuit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy is about to return to the banquet circuit after a three-months confinement to Senate chores. But his aides deny any intention to compete with the far-flung politicking of Edmund Muskie, another potential candidate for the 1972 presidential nomination.

While the Massachusetts Democrat has concentrated on being his party's Senate whip, Muskie made more than 50 speeches so far this year in what he admits is an effort to lay the groundwork for a possible bid for the Democratic nomination.

Some Kennedy allies around the country reportedly feel that the Massachusetts senator should resume political speaking to counter the favorable impact of Muskie's appearances. But the senator aides deny that is the reason for the decision.

"If he were trying to compete with Muskie on that score, he would do a lot more," a Kennedy spokesman said.

Alaska Hearings

Kennedy plans to speak April 8 at Detroit's Economic Club en route to three days of hearings and field trips by his Indian education subcommittee in Alaska.

He addresses a Democratic dinner April 25 in Las Vegas, Nevada, and the following night speaks to a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Springfield, Mo.

Kennedy plans to address the Atlanta Bar Association May 9, following this with a speech May 10 at a Democratic dinner in Louisville, Ky. Aides said there is a possibility further political speeches may be scheduled.

But his spokesman insisted "no special reason" for lifting the self-imposed ban on political speeches he imposed earlier in for Missouri and Tennessee and a hippie tribe reportedly moved to New Mexico.

—Publishers report a bonanza in magazine articles and books dealing with fictional forecasts of a cataclysm. One of them, "The Last Days of the Late Great State of California," has become a best-seller in Los Angeles bookstores.

he would stick to the Senate. He canceled a planned trip to Japan and limited himself to speeches at dinners to pay off the campaign debt of his last brother Robert.

But he appeared at a New York Democratic dinner recently at the request of his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, a potential candidate for governor of that state next year. However, his aides regard that as almost a family matter, and the senator had carefully refrained from accepting out-of-town political invitations until now.

Vietnam Issue

Supporters are also urging Kennedy to speak out on Vietnam and other foreign policy issues.

Although he has been critical of President Nixon's decision to deploy the Safeguard antimissile defense system, the last of the Kennedy brothers has refrained from public comment on Nixon's efforts to end the war.

He has been joined in this stance by Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential nominee last year.

In the Senate, Kennedy has been on the job daily.

He voted on all of 14 roll calls in the nearly three months Congress has been in session. He answered to his name on all seven quorum calls in that period.

Funeral Train Not Ceremonial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The train carrying Dwight D. Eisenhower's body to his final resting place in Abilene, Kan., will move at 50-miles-per-hour with no observances along the way.

It will not be a slow ceremonial journey such as those made by the train which returned Abraham Lincoln to Springfield, Ill., in 1865, or the one which carried Robert F. Kennedy from New York to Washington last June.

The train will make several stops, but they will be functional.

The small flag was snapping in the breeze when we arrived that morning. We were elated.

Announced Later

The White House announced a bit later, however, that Eisenhower was indisposed and would not come to the office that day. Later in the day it was disclosed that he had suffered a heart attack.

The small flag had told a story we were unable to decipher. That night, long after the story had been reported to the world, we sat around the pressroom and concluded that he wouldn't run for a second term the next year, 1956, even if he recovered.

That was the first of many mistakes we made about the amazing recuperative powers of the man—or, rather, about his indomitable will to live.

Steam-Powered Auto Purchases Are Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — A bill to require the federal government to buy only steam-powered autos will be introduced soon by the Senate Commerce Committee. Newsweek magazine reports.

The current issue of the magazine says the committee contends that exhaust from conventional cars now accounts for 85 per cent of urban air pollution.

Firemen Respond to Three False Alarms

A malfunction in the alarm system brought five units of the Appleton Fire Department to the Fox River Paper Corp. about 9:30 a.m. today.

Fire fighters were summoned to the Robert Smith home, 432 W. Brewster St., at 11:35 p.m. Saturday to find that someone had mistaken steam for smoke and turned in an alarm.

At 7:50 a.m. Sunday, a false alarm brought four units to 1616 W. Rogers St. A child reportedly turned in an alarm of a garage fire.

Car Leaves Road, Man Suffers Bloody Nose

Richard M. Zimmerman, 19, 503 W. Northland Ave., was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by private auto after his car left Apple Creek Road near the entrance to Plamann Park about 2 a.m. Saturday.

Outagamie County police said he apparently suffered only a bloody nose. There was no visible damage to his 1969 auto.

Police said Zimmerman fell asleep at the wheel of his auto.

WEA Opposes State Aid to Private Schools

Also Urges Vote Against Vocational School Takeover

MADISON — The Wisconsin Education Association (WEA) has urged its 42,000 members to work to defeat any legislative measure that would provide public monies for direct or indirect support of non-public schools. The Association also announced its opposition to the philosophy that vocational-technical and adult education be controlled by the state and financed solely by state funds.

Jerome N. Strupp, Fond du Lac, WEA president, made the announcement of the WEA's position. Strupp said, "At a time when there is a critical need for additional funds to maintain existing programs in public education, it is inadvisable to extend the distribution of public monies to private schools to any greater extent than that which is already provided in the form of transportation of private school children and in locally administered shared time programs.

"There is tremendous competition for today's tax dollars. Until such time as we can adequately support public education without overburdening taxpayers, we surely cannot look for additional programs to finance in education outside the realm of the public school."

The WEA Executive Committee issued the following resolution in support of its position:

Responsibility of State

"WEA reaffirms its belief in the constitutional principle of separation of church and state. The Constitution of Wisconsin clearly states that education is the responsibility of the state."

"Despite all its present problems, public education is still the most important single function of government because appropriate education of the young allows them to become contributing members of our society."

"Public education is the means by which many divergent groups are brought together in a common cause."

"The WEA respects the right of individuals to choose a means of educating children other than public education; however, the WEA believes that any viable private educational system should be supported by its patrons and not by the public at large."

Oppose Legislation

"Under the principle of separation of church and state we strongly oppose legislation which would directly or indirectly lead to the use of public monies to support non-public, private or parochial institutions."

Commenting about the state control of vocational-technical education, Strupp said, "Education has always been a responsibility of the state, but it has been a shared responsibility. The representation of local interests and local financial support is vital to the maintenance of the democratic tradition of Wisconsin public schools. We strongly endorse broadened support by both state and federal interests but we do not believe that any one segment of government should have total control of any public educational institution."

'That Girl' Marlo Likes To Hear Wolf Whistles

She's Seldom Recognized as TV Star
With Hair Back and Without Her Bangs

By BOB THOMAS
NEW YORK (AP) — A beautiful young brunette strides along a Manhattan street, evoking a wolf whistle from an admiring male. The girl continues on her way, glowing inwardly, "That was for ME."

The girl was "That Girl"—Marlo Thomas, star of the ABC television series. The reason for her satisfaction was not the usual one of appreciating male attention.

"The wolf whistle was for me—Marlo Thomas," she remarked, "not for Ann Marie—'That Girl.' With my bangs off my forehead and my hair pulled back, nobody recognizes me from the television series. Sometimes if I'm in a store and the salesgirl listens to my voice, she'll say, 'Aren't you 'That Girl'?"

"Otherwise I'm free to go anywhere in New York and be myself. It's wonderful."

Search for Identity
The search for identity has engaged Marlo Thomas for most of her recent years. As the eldest daughter of comedian Danny Thomas, she began her career in the shade of her famous sire. She learned the acting trade in road companies of "Under the Yum Yum Tree" and the London production of "Barefoot in the Park." Then she scored as "That Girl," earning an Emmy in the process.

Now she is seeking to escape permanent identification as the helter-skelter heroine of "That Girl."

Between the third and fourth seasons of the series, Marlo is making a movie, her first. The title is "Jenny," and her costar is Alan Alda, who scored impressively in "Paper Lion." The plot is not the kind you would ordinarily find on television.

Plot to Movie
Marlo plays a single girl who is six months pregnant and abandoned by her onetime lover. Alda is a young man who seeks to avoid the draft. A marriage of convenience ensues, and—inevitably in the movies—they fall in love.

"I've had other film offers before, and I really regret missing only one—'Barefoot in the Park,'" Marlo said. "I'm sorry that I couldn't do it because of the series. But many of the others have since been made with other actresses, and I'm not at all sorry to have missed them."

"What delights me so about 'Jenny' is that I can get away from Ann Marie. She isn't me, and that's the reason I resisted efforts to change the name of the series to 'The Marlo Thomas Show.'"

"The network people took surveys which showed that Marlo Thomas had more recognition among the general public than 'That Girl.' They wanted to change the title, but I wouldn't go along with it. I didn't want people to think that the character I play was really me. After all, the series will come to an end some day. But I hope to go on acting."

"Jenny" is rehearsing for two weeks, then will shoot for 10. Marlo is luxuriating in the relative leisure of a feature film. In television she rehearses one day and shoots the half-hour comedy in three days.

Billy Graham Guest Star On Laugh-In

BY TV SCOUT
7-8 — Channel 5 — When the Rev. Billy Graham first appears as guest of the evening on Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In, he is gently needed about the propriety of his being on the often wild and woolly show. "Jesus moved among the publicans and sinners," he replies, "and I see no reason why I shouldn't be here." With lines like that, Graham comes off as one of the best of recent series' guests.

6:30-7 — Channel 5 — There's the usual frenzy on I Dream of Jeannie tonight, with the usual reason: what appears to be the imminent discovery of Jeannie's presence in Tony's life. The catalyst here is a hot shot reporter who has vowed to dig up an exclusive on the private life of the astronaut.

7:30-8 — Channel 2 — Here's Lucy begins the rerun season with last year's debut episode. It starred both Jack Benny and Jackie Gleason in what was the surest way the redhead knew to introduce both her then new format and cast members, Lucie and Desi, Jr.

8-9 — Channel 11 — Corey and Jemal find themselves protecting a town from an avenging outlaw gang, but not by their own choice, on the Outcasts. A killer they had been pursuing was killed by the town's sheriff in a gunfight that cost the lawman his life, too.

8:30-9 — Channel 2 — French (Sebastian Cabot) is the least likely recipient of a series of poison pen letters, and Uncle Bill is determined to ferret out the odious author on Family Affair.

9-10 — Channel 11 — John Crawford, who used to be Johnny Crawford when he co-starred on The Rifleman, is the guest star on The Big Valley. He plays the young deputy sheriff who is handed a heavy burden when the sheriff is wounded by marauding outlaws.

Using a Few Curls You Can Turn White Paper Into Lilies

BY CAPPY DICK
In the hands of a clever boy or girl a piece of white paper can be turned into a real-looking Easter lily that would be a fine gift for someone. Figure 4 shows what the finished flower will look like.

White crepe paper may be

used, but plain typewriter paper that is fairly thin will also do. In addition you must have four pieces of fine spool wire, each about four inches long, a pipe cleaner of the same length, a piece of orange crayon, a piece of green crayon and some green crepe paper.

The first step is to make the flower petals (figure 1). Do this by folding a piece of paper six inches long and five inches wide into six equal sections one inch wide and five inches long. If crepe paper is used, the grain should run the five-inch length. Cutting all six sections at the same time, make the petals so that when the paper is opened it will look like the pattern in figure 1. The cuts should be about one and three-fourths inches long.

Curl the petals by pulling each one over the edge of a table knife. Trim off the corners as in figure 2.

Warm a piece of orange crayon and, pinching off a bit with your fingers, mold it around the end of a four-inch wire as in figure 3. Do so with all wires. Warm green crayon and mold a pinch of it to the end of the pipe cleaner, also as in figure 3.

Wrap the lily petals around the wires and pipe cleaner to form the flower as in figure 4. Wrap some green crepe paper around the base of the flower and the projecting wires to make a stem.

Public Appearances Over for Beatles, Says Drummer Ringo Starr
LONDON (AP) — The Beatles will never again perform in public, drummer Ringo Starr said today.

"I suppose it's a bit nasty on the fans," he said in an interview. "I'm sorry for them but no more public shows—never."

The Beatles—John Lennon, Paul McCartney, George Harrison and Ringo—will still make records and films.

They were to have given their first concert in two years in January. There had been many delays before that date was set. Then it was postponed again indefinitely.

Peter Brown, an executive of Apple, the Beatles' company, said: "We tried to arrange one last concert but it just was not practicable. There were too many obstacles."

Biegel Resigns As Grid Coach At New London

Will Work With Freshman Team At Brigham Young

NEW LONDON — Ken Biegel, head football coach at New London Senior High School, announced his resignation today to accept a position as freshman coach at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

Biegel will work toward his masters degree, in addition to coaching.

The youthful Greenfield native carved a 4-3-1 record with a New London team which was not counted to provide a good deal of opposition in his initial year as head coach at the school last year. Biegel was an all-state player in high school and at Wisconsin State University — Eau Claire.

12-5 Manawa Record
During his first two years of coaching, Biegel compiled a 12-5 record at Manawa High School.

H. James Ramsdell, superintendent of schools, said, "We are real proud of Ken and hate to lose him. He has done an excellent job here but this is a great opportunity."

"We wish him the greatest success in his new coaching job," Ramsdell said.

"You always hate to lose a good young coach," Larry Graves, athletic director, said.

Graves said, "Biegel is well suited to be a college coach. I see no reason why he won't make a fine, successful coach."

"When the opportunity comes along, you have to take advantage of it," the youthful head coach said. He explained this was mostly an opportunity to work for his masters degree while retaining contact with coaching football as an assistant.

Biegel said, "it has been an assistant."

Biegel said, "it has been an enjoyable experience at Manawa and New London, and I have worked with some real fine people."

"Here at New London the athletic program is on an upward trend and I hope I had some contribution to it," he added.

Race Driver, Bianchi, Dies In Accident

LE MANS, France (AP) — Officials are investigating the cause of an accident which killed Italian racing driver Lucien Bianchi Sunday in the second day of practice for the Le Mans 24-hour auto classic.

Lucien Bianchi

Witnesses say Bianchi was killed instantly when his 3-liter Alfa Romeo raced off the track and exploded when it hit a telegraph pole and transformer station.

Bianchi, 34, who had lived in Belgium since 1947, was that country's No. 2 racing driver. The shy, smiling redhead won at Le Mans last year with Pedro Rodriguez of Mexico in a Ford GT40.

Miss Linda Thurner, First National Bank employe, reminds bowlers that the four champions in the Bowl-O-Rama will share a $1,000 prize this year. The first-place awards have been boosted to $300 each in the men's division and $200 each in the women's division. The tournament starts April 15. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Palmer Stars for Orioles

Dodgers' Willie Davis Has Hairline Fracture of Wrist

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's Jim Palmer and Los Angeles' Willie Davis have been running into trouble since their fateful 1966 World Series encounter.

Now, Palmer appears set to do an about face after two throw-away seasons. But the breaks are still going against Davis and the Dodgers.

Palmer, plagued by recurring arm trouble since 1966, when he won 15 for Baltimore and then became the youngest pitcher ever to toss a Series shutout, scattered three singles over eight innings Sunday as the Orioles soared past Pittsburgh 5-0 for a 17-3 exhibition record.

Had Broken Ankle
Meanwhile, Davis, whose three errors on successive plays helped Palmer and the Orioles trim Los Angeles 4-0 in the second game of their '66 Series sweep, learned he'll be sidelined from three to four weeks with a hairline fracture of the right arm.

The Dodgers' fleet center fielder, who batted .284 three years ago, broke an ankle sliding the following spring and missed 20 games, finishing with a .257 average, then dipped to .250 last season, was hit in the arm by a Claude Raymond pitch in Saturday night's 3-2 victory over Atlanta.

The Braves beat the Dodgers 4-2 Sunday while St. Louis topped Philadelphia 5-3. Washington downed Kansas City 5-1, Boston edged Detroit 5-4 in 12 innings, Cincinnati downed Houston 6-4, the Chicago White Sox handled Minnesota 6-4 and Montreal nipped Los Angeles' B team 7-6.

Elsewhere, California shaded San Diego 5-3, Seattle got by the Angels' B squad 2-0, the Chicago Cubs pounded Oakland 8-3 and San Francisco outlasted Cleveland 13-11.

Today's schedule has been curtailed because of the funeral of former President Eisenhower, with three games called off and others pushed back to start no earlier than one hour after the completion of the ceremonies at Washington. The Yankees-Kansas City, Baltimore-Pittsburgh and Minnesota-Philadelphia games were postponed.

Back Ailments
Palmer, a 23-year-old right-hander who came up with shoulder and back ailments following his brilliant '66 Series performance, has posted just one major league victory in the past two seasons. He appeared in just nine games for the Orioles in 1967 and got into 10 with three minor league clubs last season.

But he breezed through the Pirates' line-up Sunday, throwing 96 pitches, and also contributed a single and double to the Baltimore attack, which was keyed by Mark Belanger's two-run homer off Jim Bunning.

Davis was flown from the Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., camp to Los Angeles, where Dr. Frank Jobe, the club physician, was to study X rays of the injury.

"This is pretty rough on Willie and the club," said Manager Walter Alton. "He might just as well not have come to spring training, since he'll have to start all over again when he's able to play. Even then, it'll take him six weeks to get ready."

Spotted 2-0 Lead
The Braves spotted the Dodgers a 2-0 lead on Bill Sudakis' first-inning homer, then came

PORT MALABAR, Fla. (AP) — Winner of three in a row on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, Kathy Whitworth has returned to her accustomed No. 1 position on the lady golfer's money-winning list.

Miss Whitworth shot into the top spot with a victory in the Port Malabar Invitational Tournament Sunday. She posted rounds of 68-72-70 for a 210 total and four-stroke victory over Mickey Wright.

Bucks Sure They'll Sign Alcindor by Wednesday

Erickson Leaves for Los Angeles

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The tense countdown to contract corroboration from Lew Alcindor was unable to budge the Milwaukee Bucks today from their insistence they would secure the UCLA basketball star's signature by Wednesday.

General Manager John Erickson said he and two Bucks officials planned to be in Los Angeles by tonight, and planned to meet Tuesday or Wednesday with Alcindor.

Erickson declined to comment on reports his National Basketball Association club had offered Alcindor a five-year, $1.4 million contract, or on a $3.25 million counter offer from the American Basketball Association.

Alcindor had said during the weekend he planned to sign with Milwaukee, "and that's good enough for me," Erickson said. The general manager added he considered Alcindor "a man of his word, and I doubt anybody else's offer can change his mind."

Milwaukee will be allowed to make the No. 1 choice in the April 7 draft. Armed with Alcindor's verbal declaration during the weekend that he would accept Milwaukee's nod, the last-place Eastern Division club was already announcing game strategy alterations to accommodate him.

Out of Corners
Coach Larry Costello said the Bucks would move their first-season pattern "out of the corners" and "drive right up the middle."

Alcindor, in Atlanta, had said he knew only two Milwaukee players, Guy Rodgers and Don Smith. He said Smith once scored 33 points against him while playing for Iowa State.

With 7-foot-1 Alcindor in the lineup, Costello said, "we'll use a low post most of the time, bringing Lew out high and playing Don Smith low."

"Lew can hit from there and, if he doesn't have a shot, he won't have any trouble getting

White Sox Cut Nixon, 3 Hurlers

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox trimmed their roster to 25 players Sunday by releasing veteran catcher Russ Nixon, 34, and optioning three pitchers to Tucson.

Optioned to Tucson were pitchers Cisco Carlos, who had a 4-14 record with the Sox last year, and rookies Billy Wynne and Danny Lazar.

'Atlanta 500' Yarborough Outlasts Pearson for Stock Win

By BLOYS BRITT

ATLANTA (AP) — Ex-farm boy Cale Yarborough won the Atlanta 500 stock car race Sunday then headed back to South Carolina to await the birth of his second child, with a $21,027 check to pay for it.

"I hope I get there in time," said the blond, stockily built driver who celebrated his 30th birthday in the Atlanta raceway garage area Wednesday.

Yarborough, a popular favorite with the crowd estimated at more than 85,000, drove his 1969 Mercury across the finish line three seconds ahead of close friend David Pearson to claim his first victory of the season.

But it was Pearson who captured the crowd's fancy. The 34-year-old Ford driver elected to start at the rear of the 40-car field when he decided to use a tire compound different from the one on which he qualified for the front row. NASCAR rules require that the car be started on the tires it used in qualifying.

Overtakes Field
The daredevil Pearson, always a charger, threaded his way through the pack at such Sapporo, Japan—Hirokyu Ebihara, 111½, Japan, outpointed Jose Severino, 111. Brazil, 15; Ebihara gained vacant the lead within 55 laps. From then on it was a battle between these two drivers and everything else was incidental.

"It was a great ride," said Yarborough, whose $136,000 in winnings last year set a record for stock car drivers. "I never thought I was in trouble, and actually I thought I had a lap lead."

Yarborough averaged 132 759 miles per hour for the 334 circuits of the 1½-mile track. He led 308 laps, with the only other leaders being Pearson, Bobby Isaac and Charlie Glotzbach, both in Dodges.

He and Pearson were equipped with Ford's new 429 cubic inch Boss Mustang engine, as were four other Ford products in the field. Only one of the engines suffered mechanical troubles.

Yarborough, who almost quit racing three years ago, now has won $290,696 on the professional stock car circuit.

Mikan Still Awaits Word From Lew

by PAT THOMPSON
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — George Mikan, who says he signed "for something like $10," when he entered professional basketball, awaited word today from Lew Alcindor on an American Basketball Association offer worth more than $3.25 million.

Alcindor has said he will sign with the Milwaukee Bucks of the rival National Basketball Association.

But Mikan, a 6-foot-10 giant of the NBA from 1947 to 1956 and now the ABA commissioner, and Arthur J. Brown, owner of the New York Nets, still hope the 7-1½ UCLA All-American can be convinced to sign with the two-year-old league.

Mikan said he met last Friday with Alcindor's financial advisor, Sam Gilbert.

"When I left Los Angeles Friday night," Mikan said, "Gilbert told me a lawyer would be in my office Monday to go over the contract we offered. Does that mean negotiations are closed?"

Reveal Terms
Mikan revealed terms of the ABA offer Saturday at a news conference.

It includes five per cent of stock in the Nets, a $500,000 bonus, a five-year $1 million contract, an annuity payment of $62,500 a year for 20 years and 10 per cent of ABA national television contracts totaling at least $500,000.

"I signed for something like $10," said Mikan. "We didn't want him (Alcindor) to have to worry about his life after he's finished playing basketball."

"We still don't consider the negotiations ended," Mikan said. "All this can still be his. All he has to do is pick up the phone."

Alcindor, however, said Saturday in Atlanta that Milwaukee "made me a very lucrative offer. They're real good people up there and I had no difficulty whatsoever in making up my mind to play with them."

Alcindor, in making a quick decision, said he wanted to avoid a bidding war.

Mikan, fearing perhaps Alcindor's advisors had "not given him our full offer," sent a telegram to Gilbert and Alcindor Saturday, explaining the contract.

"If he thinks that's too much money, he can give some to his favorite charity," Mikan said. "He doesn't want to play in Milwaukee. He wants to play in New York."

Knicks and Celtics Grab 3-0 Leads in Divisional Playoffs

Lakers Will Try to Shake Jinx Against Upstart Warriors Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Los Angeles Lakers try tonight to break the division winners' jinx and get back into the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Lakers, regular season winners in the West, play the San Francisco Warriors in Oakland and a third straight loss would put them in the same boat as the Eastern kings, the Baltimore Bullets, who are down to their last shot against the New York Knicks.

The Knicks overcame a nine-point deficit in the last 6½ minutes Sunday and rallied to beat Baltimore 119-116 and take a 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 set. The defeated Bullets have until Wednesday to regroup for what could be the final game.

John Havlicek, Sam Jones and Don Nelson led the defending champion Boston Celtics to a 125-118 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers Sunday night to grab a 3-0 lead in the other Eastern semifinal.

Boston Comes Home
The Celtics, fourth-place finishers in regular season play, could wrap it up Tuesday when action switches to their home court and erase the embarrassment of their lowest finish since 1950.

The upset-minded San Diego Rockets, trailing the Atlanta Hawks 2-0 in Western Division playoffs, shift to friendly home courts Tuesday after Saturday's 116-114 loss to the Hawks. The Hawks had to use Walt Hazzard's two free throws with nine seconds remaining to clinch the victory.

In regular season play in the American Basketball Association Sunday, New Orleans defeated Los Angeles 123-111. Miami topped Minnesota 126-118 and Oakland trimmed Kentucky 119-112.

Key Bucket
Walt Frazier, who set a New York playoff record with 17 assists, put the rallying Knicks ahead 115-114 with 1:29 remaining on a driving layup. Willis Reed, scored 35 points to spark the Knicks.

The Boston-Philadelphia game was tied 21 times before Bailey Howell completed a three-point play that gave the Celtics a 95-92 lead with 23 seconds remaining in the third period. The 76ers never caught up. Havlicek scored 23 points, 19 in the first half, while Jones finished with 25.

Leaders Hold Positions in State Pin Test

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Top leaders in the Wisconsin State Bowling Association's annual tournament remained unbudged during the weekend with changes only in the junior divisions altering the standings.

Dwight Reichelsdorf, Kenosha, is the regular singles leader with 725. Lamoine Hauser and Ken Jordan of Hartford hold the doubles lead with 1,393.

Robert Braum of Manitowish is the regular all-events leader with 1,958.

Bob Montgomery of Monroe took over second place in the junior singles standing Sunday with a 623 series, four pins behind leader Ron Huber of Mauston.

Muzzy Pifuzzi, Kenosha, took over fifth place with 611.

In junior team standings, Elmwood Locker of Hartford took over the lead with a 2,881.

Follmer Wins Bryan Race In Phoenix

Unser Loses Engine in First 1969 USAC Test

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A cry of "Go Chevis" from the grandstand Sunday pushed George Follmer, 35, to victory in the first U.S. Auto Club championship race of the 1969 season—the Jimmy Bryan Memorial.

Follmer's rear-engine car was the first Chevrolet-powered machine to win a championship USAC race. And it did it in an average speed of 109.88 miles per hour—a new track record for the 150-mile.

"He's got over 700 horsepower and I've got 550; that doesn't multiply," Follmer said of Bobby Unser, last year's USAC and Indianapolis champion who lost his race lead and engine on the 122nd lap.

Follmer said he was just waiting for his fuel load to go down before making his move.

Follmer, born here, but now a Santa Fe Springs, Calif., resident, took home $8,400. Unser, from Albuquerque, N.M., finished eighth and took home $1,625, including $750 appearance money from USAC.

Wally Dallenback, East Brunswick, N.J., was second, two laps behind Follmer. Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., was third and Billy Kovovich, Fresno, Calif., fourth.

Needs Sponsors
"If I can line up some sponsors, I might tackle the USAC circuit full time," Follmer said. "And if I can get the backing, I will go to Indy this year."

Until mechanical troubles hit, Unser did not have a challenger in sight. He got the lead on lap 27 when Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., took his first of two pit stops.

Andretti left the race in lap 38 with a loose half-shaft in his STP Turbo-charged Ford, to take 16th place.

With the exception of Follmer's car, all eight cars finishing the race out of a field of 23 qualifiers were powered by Offenhauser engines.

Soviets Retain Title In Hockey Tournament

STOCKHOLM (AP) — John F. "Bunny" Ahearne of London, European president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, termed the 1969 world amateur championships today the most successful in history.

"Receipts are up 70 per cent over 1963, the last time the tournament was held in Stockholm," he said.

The two week tournament, ended Sunday night with the Russians holding on to the title for the seventh straight year by the skin of their teeth.

Goals spread gave them first place, with Sweden taking the silver medal and Czechoslovakia the bronze. All three teams finished with 16 points from 10 games.

A total of 196,299 people watched the 30 games in the championships.

Was Disastrous
For the U.S. team, twice world champions, the tournament was disastrous.

The Americans lost their final game 3-7 against Finland Sunday and ended up in last place with 10 defeats in 10 games.

That means they must drop to the B group for the first time since the championships were started.

The Czechs whose two victories over the Russians had fired big demonstrations in Prague, needed a tie against Sweden to clinch the title but lost 1-0.

Ebihara New World King of Flyweights

Japanese Fighter Injures Hand in Winning Crown

SAPPOLO, Japan (AP) — The timetable for Hiroyuki Ebihara's first defense of his new world flyweight crown will depend on an injured knuckle on his hard-hitting left hand.

After Ebihara's unanimous decision Sunday over top-ranked Jose Severino of Brazil, the new champion's manager said the first challenger—most likely to be Raton Mojica of Nicaragua—will have to wait about six months because of the injured hand.

All three Japanese ring officials scored the 15-round fight for the vacant title 75-66 in favor of the Japanese southpaw, the second-ranked flyweight contender. The Associated Press had it 75-67.

Longer Reach
Using his longer reach to advantage, Ebihara, 111½, kept the 27-year-old Severino, 111, at a distance in the early rounds and went on to regain the 112-pound title he lost to Pone Kimpetch of Thailand in 1964 after holding it for only four months.

Ebihara did the worst damage in the ninth round when he opened a bad cut over Severino's left eye. Ebihara suffered a cut in the same area in the sixth round.

It was Ebihara's 61st victory against four losses and a draw. Severino's loss was his third in 27 fights.

Dick Weber Breaks Long Dry Spell

NEW OREANS (AP) — Dick Weber of St. Louis won the Professional Bowlers Association's $45,000 New Orleans Open Saturday, beating Bill Allen of Fresno, Calif., 274-221 in the final match.

"It's like winning the first tournament all over again," beamed Weber. "It has been three years and one month since I won a tournament—and then came today."

Despite the long dry spell, tournament victory was nothing new for Weber. It was his 18th. The $6,000 first place check raised the all-time PBA money winner's lifetime earnings to over $300,000.

Actually Weber wrapped up the championship in the next-to-last match with a come-from-behind 239 to 225 victory over Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill. The 39-year-old Weber was behind 49 pins in the fifth frame, then struck out for the victory. A split in the 10th frame by Stefanich made the path easier.

In the American League at Ludvig Lanes in Freedom, Jerry Kelfler fired a 235 line en route to 632 to set the pace. Trailing were Jim Nelessen, 613; Ron Van Rossum, 611; Amby Dickrell, 602; Jim Ludwig, 228-598; Marv Gerrits, 254-584; Jerry Weber, 555; Don Baumgartner, 580; Carl Greiner Sr., 564; Bob McGinnis, 53; Tony Dickrell, 225.

The Businessmen's League at Little Chute Recreation Lanes saw Mel DeBruin lead the way with 583. Paul "Tarz" Hietpas was right behind with 582, and Harold Evers close back, too.

Darkhorses Are Making Mark On Golf Tour

Lightly-Regarded Henry Tips Murphy In 'Airlines' Test

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bunky Henry bounced his tow-headed, 2-year-old son—one of three—on his knee and talked about what he was going to do with the $40,000 he had just won.

"I am going to slap it in the bank," he said.

Henry 25, son of a Valdosta, Ga., banker and formerly a place-kicking specialist for the Georgia Tech football team, is the latest of succession of dark-horse winners on the $6 million pro golf tour.

Despite a triple-bogey 8 on one hole, the boyish-looking southerner overtook his best pal, Bob Murphy, for the first prize check in the bizarre $200,000 National Airlines Open Golf Tournament.

His best paycheck previously this year was $322.50 at Pensacola. He had missed the cut in two tournaments and in six others had finished between 41st and 79th.

Winners Vary

In 13 tournaments so far this year, there have been 13 different winners. Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper each won one, but the other top check cashers were largely outsiders. In five Florida tournaments, the winners were Tom Shaw, Ken Still, Jim Colbert, Ray Floyd and now Bunky Henry.

Henry said last Tuesday Murphy told him he, Murphy, felt great a thought he would win. "We'll finish 1-2," Bob predicted.

"On the putting green, before the final round, I kidded with Murl, saying 'I'm going to lick you,'" Henry explained. "Bob laughed and said, 'Don't forget, the order is me one and you two.'"

Murphy, who won $105,000 as a rookie last year—$100,000 more than Henry—started with a three-stroke lead over the field, Henry five shots back.

String of Birdies

Bunky caught the red-haired Floridian with five birdies on the first six holes but almost blew it when he dumped two balls in the water on the par 5 13th for an 8.

"I got to thinking about all that money," he said.

Henry shot a final 70 for 278. Murphy skied to a 76 for 279, tying Dan Sikes, who had a hole-in-one in his 68; Australian Bruce Crampton, who shot a 66, and Dave Stockton, who had a 72.

Arnold Palmer shot a 72 for 283. He was tied with PGA champion Julius Boros and Sam Snead. Gary Player was at 285.

Elaine Grones Jolts 560 Set

Elaine Grones slammed a 560 Verona Gloudemans 516. La-series and Nancy Stuyvenberg 515. Carol had a 212 game to divide honors, Vande Loo 194, Jeanne Stuyvenberg 192 and Betty Van Cuyk 191.

Elaine had a 200 game with the high series and Nancy finished with a 557 series.

Other top scores from the Kimberly loop included Margaret Wildenberg 192-518, rolled a 192 singleton.

Ailing Clemente Raps Press For Unsympathetic Attitude

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates, plagued by injuries and a spring showing far below his superstar status, says he gets a bad press when he's injured because he's black.

The press, Clemente says, "thinks I'm faking my injuries because I'm Puerto Rican and black."

"They say Mickey Mantle's a superstar. He's limping. They say, 'Poor Mickey.' I play with four stitches in my feet. They don't say anything about it," Clemente said.

Clemente's criticism came Sunday. He rejoined the Pirates after taking a four-day trip to Puerto Rico to have his left shoulder treated by his personal physician.

The trip had sparked comment from team physician Dr. Joseph Finegold, who said, "If he comes to me for help again, I'm going to tell him to go back to Puerto Rico. And I'm going to tell Joe Brown (Pittsburgh's general manager) the same thing."

One Hit All Spring

Clemente was in the lineup for Pittsburgh, which lost to Baltimore 5-0. The Pirate rightfielder, who draws $100,000 a year, was 0-for-2 in the game. He's 1-for-17 this spring.

Clemente injured his right shoulder last year and said he couldn't play properly. His batting average dropped to .291, the first time he's hit below .300 since 1958.

Then he injured his left shoulder this spring while making a driving catch for a fly ball. Pittsburgh allowed Clemente, four-time National League batting champ, to go to Puerto Rico for treatment.

If anybody knows how to find spare parts for an old Krenz Model 52 brandy still, please drop us a line.

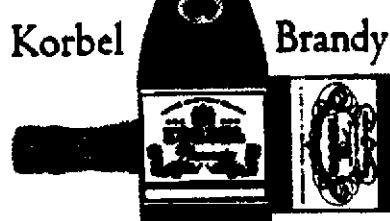

Not long ago, the man in charge of making our brandy asked some experts from the university to come down and take a look at his two old copper brandy stills. He was thinking about replacing them with some of the fast, new stainless steel equipment and he wanted an expert opinion.

The gist of what they told him was this. A new stainless steel still, they said, might produce a brandy that would do justice to the champagne and champagne wines that went into it. But then again, it might not. An efficient new still might produce a brandy worthy of being aged up to five years in white oak casks. But then again, it might not. An efficient new still might produce a brandy that would measure up to a reputation that goes back a hundred years.

But then again, it might not.

If anybody knows how to find parts for an old Krenz Model 52 brandy still, please drop us a line.

More NHL Records Tumble

By HAL ROCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Its record-breaking regular season ended, the National Hockey League prepared today for the annual Stanley Cup playoffs.

In the East Division, the champion Montreal Canadiens host the third place New York Rangers and runner-up Boston Bruins face the fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs in Wednesday's opening games. In the West, champion St. Louis is home against third place Philadelphia while second-place Oakland faces fourth-place Los Angeles.

In Sunday's final games, New York thumped Toronto 4-0, Boston slugged Montreal 6-3, Chicago walloped Detroit 9-5, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 2-1 and Los Angeles tied Minnesota 3-3.

Scoring Mark

In Boston, Phil Esposito pushed his point scoring mark to an incredible 126 and tallied his 48th and 49th goals of the season, shattering the record for a center of 47 held by Montreal's Jean Beliveau.

Esposito's linemate, Ken Hodge, scored his 44th and 45th of the season as the Bruins finished the season with a record 303 goals and 100 points, three short of the Canadiens' championship record haul.

New York goalie Ed Giacomin clinched second place in the Vezina Trophy race by shutting out the Maple Leafs. The runner-up spot was worth $750 to Giacomin. The Rangers' total of 196 goals allowed was the best figure in the East Division and second only to St. Louis, which allowed 157.

Ron Stewart scored a pair of goals as the Rangers pushed their home ice unbeaten streak to 18 games, tying a club record. New York set team records of most victories (41), most points (91) and most goals scored (231).

Hull Boosts Record

Pit Martin scored four goals and Bobby Hull boosted his single season record to 58 in the Black Hawks' romp over the Red Wings. Gordie Howe, who celebrates his 41st birthday today, had two goals and two assists, raising his season's total to 103 points. Esposito, Hull and Howe are the first players in NHL history ever to pass 100 points for a single season.

Pittsburgh, out of the playoffs for the second straight year, stretched its season-ending unbeaten streak to six games by knocking off Philadelphia. George Szwarcbrick scored one Penguin goal and assisted on the other.

The Penguins finished in a tie for fifth place in the West with

Pacers Clinch Division Title In the ABA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Indiana Pacers can stop pacing. They've won the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division championship.

It all came about Sunday night when the Kentucky Colonels, last team with a chance to catch the Pacers, lost to the Western champion Oakland Oaks 119-112 and fell into a flat-footed tie with Miami, three games back. Indiana, however, has only one game left.

In other action, New Orleans beat Los Angeles 123-111 to clinch second place in the West, and Miami downed Minnesota 126-118.

Doug Moe of Oakland helped seal Kentucky's fate with 31 points while Gary Bradds and Warren Armstrong had 20 apiece. Louie Damper was high for the losers with 29.

Indiana outdistanced the field with a record 427 points, winning nine events in the three-day meet. Underclassmen accounted for 210 of the points in individual events in Royer Pool.

Runner-up Southern California had three firsts and 306 points in the meet that produced 10 U.S. records. Stanford was third with 196, followed by Michigan with 164.

In Counselman's first 10 years as coach, Indiana finished as runner-up three times and in third place three times in the NCAA meet, but never won the title.

Such talented youngsters as Olympian Mark Spitz, the only triet, make the Hoosiers look like the team to beat for several years to come.

Spitz, a freshman, won the 100-yard butterfly Saturday night and earlier broke U.S. records in the 200-yard and 500-yard freestyle.

The U.S. records set on the final night of the meet were of 1:54.2 by Hans Fassnacht of Long Beach State in the 1,650-yard freestyle, a 1:53.6 by Indiana's Charlie Hickox in the 200 backstroke and a 3:02.8 by Southern Cal in the 400 freestyle relay.

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Wisconsin was admitted to membership Saturday in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association.

Officials of the league, now expanded to nine members, unanimously approved a request for admission submitted by Frank Remington, University of Wisconsin faculty representative.

Other members include Michigan, Michigan State and Minnesota of the Big Ten, Minnesota-Duluth, North Dakota, Denver, Colorado College and Michigan Tech.

Indiana Wins Swim Crown

10 U. S. Records Produced During NCAA Competition

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Coach Doc Counsilman of Indiana won a long time to win his first National Collegiate Athletic Association swimming championship.

Saturday night his Hoosiers captured a second straight title; now it's the other coaches' turn to wait.

Plagued by Lack of Unity
Wisconsin Tourism
Booms in Spite of Variety of Problems

Post-Crescent News Service
MADISON — Tourism in Wisconsin is a bustling, booming business—it ranked third as a revenue producer in the state last year — but there are problems.

Some of the woes are academic, some competitive, and some financial. A major one is a lack of unity.

That is the consensus drawn from a two-day tourism seminar Wednesday and Thursday at the University of Wisconsin.

The academic problem comes from a lack of research, statistics and other data needed for planners and developers to make decisions.

Much of what is now the basis of the state's tourist business — the family owned resort or string of lakeside cottages — grew up in the days before zoning regulations, building codes and other restrictions.

Lack of Studies
The academic problem has two effects. There are not enough studies available to tell a prospective developer where and why his project is likely to be a success and where it is likely to flounder.

Secondly, the developer, unable to amass the information he needs, finds it difficult to convince lenders that his project is one worthy of their support.

The competitive troubles are internal. The tourism business is booming — but much of the growth is in non-traditional areas.

Seminar speakers told the delegates what most of them already knew — that the hottest items in recreation today are vehicles designed to help a family get away from it all, and vacationland housing built for the same purpose.

Risky Venture
These things swell the total of dollars spent on tourism, but they also make the resort business a risky thing, especially for the small operator with little financing.

The state has shown a decline of nearly 600 licensed lodging places in the last few years — although there are roughly the same number of beds available for lodgers. What the figures mean is that there are fewer resorts, but the ones that are left are bigger.

The push by the public for recreational vehicles and vacation housing stems from several different factors.

People have more money to spend, the speakers continued to point out, and they have more free time to which to spend it. Being more affluent, they are buying "big ticket" items — travel trailers with air conditioning, and spacious north country second homes.

Once these purchases are made, the experts say, people find that vacationing costs them little more than staying at home. Information is sketchy, but there is agreement that both types of vacationers do spend money in their travels — but it is not money spent for cottage rental and other traditional vacation items.

Trailers Popular
There are other factors, too — and some of them are quite subtle.

The urban dweller wants to escape from the noise, crime and congestion of the big cities. He wants to be sure of his accommodations, his food, the places he goes and the things he will do. As a result, he will buy a trailer or pickup camper, or build a vacation home.

The shape of the economy also has its influence on the money available for resort and tourism development. One north country banker admitted to the group that there are many investments much safer than money spent on a seasonal resort project.

Resort developers were advised to provide excellence in housing, variety in activities and a community-type atmosphere which puts the visitor at ease.

Interests Vary
The vacationing family today is less likely to be oriented to one activity than was the case a few years back. Pop may still want to go fishing, but the lady of the house wants to be taken out for good meals. And they may play golf, or tennis, or want to take in a play or concert.

Youngsters in the families — especially teens — have a major decision-making influence when the family draws up its vacation plans. The wise resort operator was advised to make sure he had facilities and activities for the teen crowd.

The final element that makes the tourism business hard to pin down is a lack of unity.

There is no master organization for tourism as there is for so many other businesses and industries.

There are good reasons for the lack, too.

The man who runs the resort and the fellow who tends the tenting ground are in competition for the tourist dollar. They do not always agree.

Object to ORAP
Several campground people at the meeting voiced objection to the pending ORAP-200 referendum on the grounds that the project includes additional state

State 54 Crashes Injure 2 Women
BLACK CREEK — Two accidents about a half hour apart on State 54, at Outagamie County Trunk PP, a mile east of here, Sunday evening brought injuries to two persons.

Janet M. Bergman, 24, 1202 S. Pearl St., New London, was taken by ambulance to New London Community Hospital after her car left State 54 and went into a ditch, striking a highway marker. The accident occurred at 6:30 p.m.

Police said Mrs. Bergman suffered lacerations to the right side of her face and contusions to her left knee. Damage to her car was estimated at $200.

At 7 p.m., an accident at the same location resulted in a neck injury to Marilyn Sigl, 17, Black Creek.

Police said she was in a car driven by Elton D. Wendt, 22, route 1, Seymour. His car and one driven by Jennifer Starand, 16, Black Creek, were eastbound on State 54 and stopped for an ambulance that was at the scene of the earlier accident at the same location.

The Starand auto ran into the rear of the Wendt car as the two autos were pulling away. Police said Miss Starand was ticketed for following too closely. Damage was estimated at $250.

Jesus Shuddered at Approach of Death

EDITOR'S NOTE—Death is man's every day companion. Yet man's deepest instincts rebel against the thought of dying. The following first of five articles dealing with the Easter period takes up man's relations to death and its meaning in the Judeo-Christian tradition.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The candle burns out, and you're gone. It is the end, the awful finality. And it comes to all men. They don't like to think about it, but they must die.

"You are dust," says the Genesis account of creation, "and to dust you shall return."

It is no pleasant prospect, in the Judeo-Christian view. Modern culture tries to obscure it, avoid talk of it, mask it in soft music, whispers, flowers and coffin cosmetics. But it haunts the human consciousness.

It troubles every man. It troubled Jesus of Nazareth.

He became "sorrowful and troubled," the book of Matthew relates, on that fateful spring midnight of 30 A.D. when He took His apostles up on the wooded hillside of Gethsemane outside Jerusalem to await His arrest.

"My soul is very sorrowful, even to death," He told them, "Remain here, and watch with Me."

Old Oil Press

He left them beside an old oil press, and went on alone into a small clearing among the gnarled olive trees. He flung himself to the ground, face down, sobbing. His arms spread against a protruding slab of rock.

And He prayed, says Hebrews 5:7, "with loud cries and tears."

FVTI Will be Represented At Convention

Five Fox Valley Technical Institute (FVTI) staff members will represent the district at the national convention of the Office Education Association today through Wednesday in Kansas City.

The Appleton chapter of the Wisconsin Business Education Club will compete for national honors as chapter of the year. This award will be based on the chapter activities, as well as an oral presentation by the historian, Miss Kay Gjerard, Appleton. This same presentation gave Appleton the runnerup title to the state chapter of the year award recently at the convention in Green Lake. Also competing will be clubs from Wausau and Rice Lake. Judging will be on a cumulative point system.

Valley Participants
Donald Madsen, Neenah, recently elected WBEC parliamentarian, will be a candidate for that office on a national basis. Miss Deborah Wallen, Appleton, will represent the Appleton Technical Institute (ATI) as one of 12 voting delegates from Wisconsin and act as campaign manager for Madsen.

Mrs. Thomas Welch, ATI secretarial science teacher and senior adviser to the club, will participate as an office education association contest administrator and official.

Robert Holland and Gary Reed, from the Oshkosh Technical Institute, will participate in the advanced accounting proficiency contests, representing FVTI.

Mill Worker's Hand Crushed in Rewinder

NEENAH — Gary Schroeder, 22, 520 Stone Ave., was treated and released from Theda Clark Hospital Saturday afternoon following an accident at the Neenah Paper Company plant of Kimberly-Clark Corporation.

Authorities said he sustained crushing injuries to his left hand when he caught it in a paper rewinder at the mill. He was taken to the hospital by fire department ambulance.

Despite His mastery of life, He shuddered at the approach of death. Despite His complete realism, His total commitment to man's existence, and perhaps more because of it, He agonized at its fate.

He shared the universal human misery, the underlying dread, the realization of the impending blow that eventually engulfed everyone and everything a person loves, possesses, wishes, strives for and hopes.

It is man's ultimate helplessness, his final frustration and defeat, the tragedy of his condition.

And it remains unresolved by all his medical marvels, his stunning technology and scientific feats in a century when, as theologian Dietrich Bonhoeffer put it, man appears to have "come of age" to manage his own destiny.

Indeed, man's capabilities bulk so immense that they almost seem to give him total responsibility, an all-sufficiency for himself and his world. It is a powerful contemporary religious mood—a stress on secular obligations.

Secular Being

"Perhaps God Himself is a secular being," Rabbi Abraham Heschel once observed wryly. At least, the earthly creation—and the ministry of Jesus—occurred on the secular plane.

"Fill the earth and subdue it," says the primordial Genesis mandate to man. "And have dominion over . . . every living thing." What happens here was put up to man, in a wide grant of freedom, both productive and perilous.

Its possibilities now seem almost immeasurable, and grow ever more so. Yet with all of the accomplishments and incalculable potentialities, the central problem remains. It can be forestalled, the pain allayed. But it comes, inescapably, to every man.

He is mortal. He will die. And unlike other creatures, he knows it.

"His days are like grass," says the Psalmist. " . . . the wind passes over it, and it is gone."

Contrary to popular supposition, Judeo-Christianity does not consider man, in himself, "immortal." This is a Greek and Oriental idea, which sees man as a duality of separate entities—corrupt body and pure soul.

In sharp contrast, Scripture views man as an integral, psychosomatic being, body and spirit, and views death with melancholy realism, as opposed to man's strongest impulses, the shadow of some basic, primitive flaw in him.

But Scripture also upholds the hope of his ultimate resurrection, through a power beyond his own.

Rather than demeaning materiality as a burdensome evil, as in the ancient Eastern philosophies, Jewish - Christian teachings esteem it highly. "Very Good," God terms it in Genesis.

No Pleasant Journey

Furthermore, death is definitely no pleasant journey or "friend" but rather the arch foe, the epitome of evil and consequence of it, the summing up of all the destructive cruelties, diseases, decay, aggressions and exploitations that distort and ruin life.

The "last enemy," is what Paul calls it.

And differing from other creatures, man is aware of its coming.

"In the midst of life we are in death," the English prayerbook puts it.

No man can ward off this time-consciousness. Neither can he immerse himself entirely in the here-and-now moment, existentially, for he knows of his yesterdays and of dying on some tomorrow.

A "being-unto-death," some philosophers call it. It is the human sadness.

Yet, while in bondage of time, man's very nature protests it.

It seems contrary to all his planning, his development, his aspirations, his intellectual growth, his completeness. He feels meant for something more, that he was not meant to die. His deepest instincts resist it, fear it, cry out against it.

Yet, inexorably, death comes. Time closes in, shuts us aside. Something is wrong, awry, out of kilter. And it tormented that singular person, Jesus. He faced the end of His days on earth.

"My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from Me." He prayed in agony on the mountain rock. Scripture says sweat poured from Him like great drops of blood. "Nevertheless, not My will, but Thine, be done."

He got up finally, and returned to where His apostles had fallen asleep. "So, could you not watch with Me one hour? . . . The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."

Death Took Over

The Roman soldiers and religious officials, representatives of the most respected institutions of the community, came and seized Him. They bound His arms and led Him away for His trial and execution. Death took over.

It is the comprehensive tragedy, the deep tension in man, as it was in Jesus, and yet He, as all men must, accepted it, the divine will in manhood taking on the worst kind of cruel death, submitting to a purpose in it.

"If one is not able to die, he is not really able to live," observed the late theologian Paul Tillich.

Jesus didn't duck either. He had finished His earthly time. He had not wasted it, but used it to the hilt, up to the last. His departure from it grieved Him. Yet He submitted to it as also necessary and useful.

It must be that. It could be the greatest gift. Inserted into the sweep of eternity, time provides a scale in which human wrongs could be made temporary.

It can be seen as a compassionate provision for man's reparation. Even the limit on his years makes them precious. It makes them responsible. Time is his to use. It is his opportunity.

"Behold, now is the acceptable time," writes St. Paul. "Look carefully then how you walk . . . making the most of time." For God has revealed "the mystery of His will, according to His purpose which He set forth in Christ, as a plan for the fullness of time, to unite all things in Him, things in heaven and things on earth."

Girl Playing With Matches Blamed for Minor Fire at Home

A six-year-old girl playing with matches was blamed for a fire that damaged a bedroom in the Orville W. Glaser home, 1402 N. Bennett St., Saturday morning.

Fire fighters, who were summoned at 9:30 a.m., were at the home a half hour with four units. They said the blaze started in clothing above a dresser in a second floor bedroom.

Fire charred the dresser and blistered paint on the walls and ceiling. There also was smoke damage.

Four trucks were dispatched to 431 W. College Avenue, about 3:20 p.m. Saturday to investigate a smoke smell which, it turned out, was coming from a fluorescent light ballast.

Massage Is Fine, but Won't Get Rid of Fat

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D. many folks who want to reduce just one part of the body and not the rest.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How much truth is there to the opinion that you should massage the thighs, then exercise, and that in this way fatty deposits which cause heavy thighs can be diminished?

Also, is it dangerous to massage your calves when you have pain due to broken (but not badly varicose) veins? — M. C.

Dr. Thosteson

Excess fat — in the thighs or anywhere — has to be used up by exercise, that is, "burned" by the body's functions or activity. Massaging, pummeling, or rubbing won't do it.

I know this answer will be a just the reverse. Some com- great disappointment to the plain, "My face gets so thin mere presence of outpouching areas in the colon — often exists without bothering a per- son at all.

Diverticulitis — with the "itis," not the "osis" ending — is quite another matter. That indicates that a pouchy section has become irritated and in- flamed. And that is anything but "nothing."

Note to C. J. S., Sr.: The continued habit of taking bicar- bonate of soda can upset the stomach; there is no objection to using it to clean your teeth, however. Many people do so.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reduc- ing," tells you how — naturally and with no gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individ- ual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Read- ers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possi- ble.

I'LL BET LOTS OF CAR OWNERS WHO ARE NOW BUYING CUT-RATE GASOLINES WILL BE SWITCHING TO THIS NEW SKELLY ECONOMY GRADE! ...OR TO SKELLY'S NEW REGULAR, NOW STEPPED UP WITH KEOTANE!

AND THAT'S NOT ALL... NOW, THOUSANDS OF CAR OWNERS WHO NEED A GASOLINE IN BETWEEN REGULAR AND KEOTANE CAN STEP UP TO NEW SKELLY 50-50! THEY CAN STOP THAT "PING" FOR HALF THE COST OF MOVING ALL THE WAY UP TO TOP PREMIUM KEOTANE!

Now that Skelly offers 5 gasolines (4 with Keotane) at 5 different prices, thousands of car owners who need a gasoline in between regular and premium can step up to the exact amount of top Keotane gasoline needed—without paying for more octane than their cars can use:

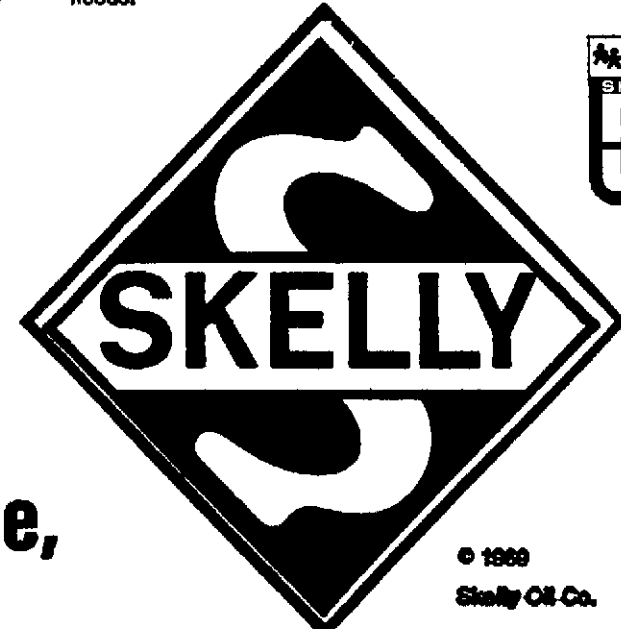

Whether you drive a Volks or a Valiant... Falcon or Ferrari... Chevy or Cadillac or anything in between... Skelly has a grade of gasoline that's right for your car. And all of these 5 great Skelly gasolines match power with price to give you maximum performance at minimum cost.

Economy gasoline buyers: Try new Skeltane, the high-powered economy gasoline from Skelly—priced even lower than regular.

If your car needs even higher octane, try one of the 4 step-up grades now available from Skelly—all with Skelly's exclusive cleaning additive, Keotane! There's new Skelly Regular with Keotane. Or, if your car "pings" on regular, but doesn't need all the octane in top premium, try new Skelly 50-50 with Keotane. Or new Skelly Special, halfway between 50-50 and top premium Keotane gasoline. It has even more octane than 50-50, even more Keotane, yet still costs less than top premium!

Of course, if your car demands TOP octane gasoline, and if you aren't already using top premium Keotane, there is no better time than now to switch to this great gasoline! If Keotane can help you get faster starting, more power, or smoother performance, shouldn't you find it out?

Whatever car you drive, drive into any Skelly station and ask for the Skelly gasoline that matches your car's exact octane needs.

Silent People File Past Bier

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower had a look that night of boyish embarrassment.

It was the 56th birthday of his wife Mamie, Nov. 14, 1952. The two of them had been chatting with newsmen on the porch of the Eisenhower cottage at Augusta National Golf Club in Georgia, where they had gone for a rest after his first-term election 10 days earlier.

"Ike," Mamie asked with a sort of pixie smile, "is it all right if I show them what you gave me for my birthday?"

Reluctant Consent
"Oh, all right," he consented reluctantly.

Mamie disappeared into the cottage and then returned to the doorway, holding before her a beautiful negligee. Ike beamed, pleasure overriding his embarrassment.

To this reporter, Dwight David Eisenhower was a fascinating personality study.

There was the man with the magnetic grin—the man whose charisma touched off wildly enthusiastic ovations wherever he of the news corps followed him on his travels throughout the world as president—arms outstretched high above his head.

There was the man of intense, imperturbable concentration, whether fishing for trout, lining up a putt, drawing a bead on a quail—or studying a classified document at the moment a visitor was ushered into his White House office.

There was the man whose utter essence was warmth and

Essence of Warmth
There was the man, too, who never was quite at ease with the news corps in some public, some private circumstances. There could be an inbred military sternness that suggested to some that they ought to snap to attention.

Sometimes it was quite understandable, like one summer day in a Colorado trout stream where Ike was having remarkable success. As reporters watched from a highway overlooking the stream, he hauled in one trout after another—and we reported his catch in detail.

He went over the legal limit, but neither he nor we were aware of it at the time.

Baleful Glower
When Eisenhower found out about it later that day, and about the fact his unwitting transgression was making headlines, he turned a baleful glower upon us.

On other occasions, reporters had been invited to share in the fish fry on the bank of the stream—a treat we had enjoyed immensely.

There was no invitation that day.

As president, Eisenhower refused to speak critically or those who were critical of him or of his administration.

"I never deal in personalities," became a familiar response at news conference.

But then after thus divorcing his remarks from individuals he would go on to declare:

At the time of the first of his

by JOSEPH E. MOHBT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The common people of this silent capital trudged in shuffling, ever-lengthening lines past the soldier's casket of Dwight D. Eisenhower today while world leaders assembled to pay their final tribute.

The funeral day of America's 34th President dawned radiantly clear and the file of mourners—two double lines, moving deliberately but steadily—quickly grew.

Soon it stretched from the hushed Capitol Rotunda, where the hero general of World War II lay in state, down the broad steps and far out into the Capitol Plaza where he twice took the oath of the presidency.

The leaders of American government and representatives of most of the world's nations would be there this afternoon at the start of his funeral procession.

World Traders
Among them: President Charles de Gaulle of France, the Shah of Iran, King Constantine of Greece, King Baudouin of Belgium, West Germany's Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger and dozens more.

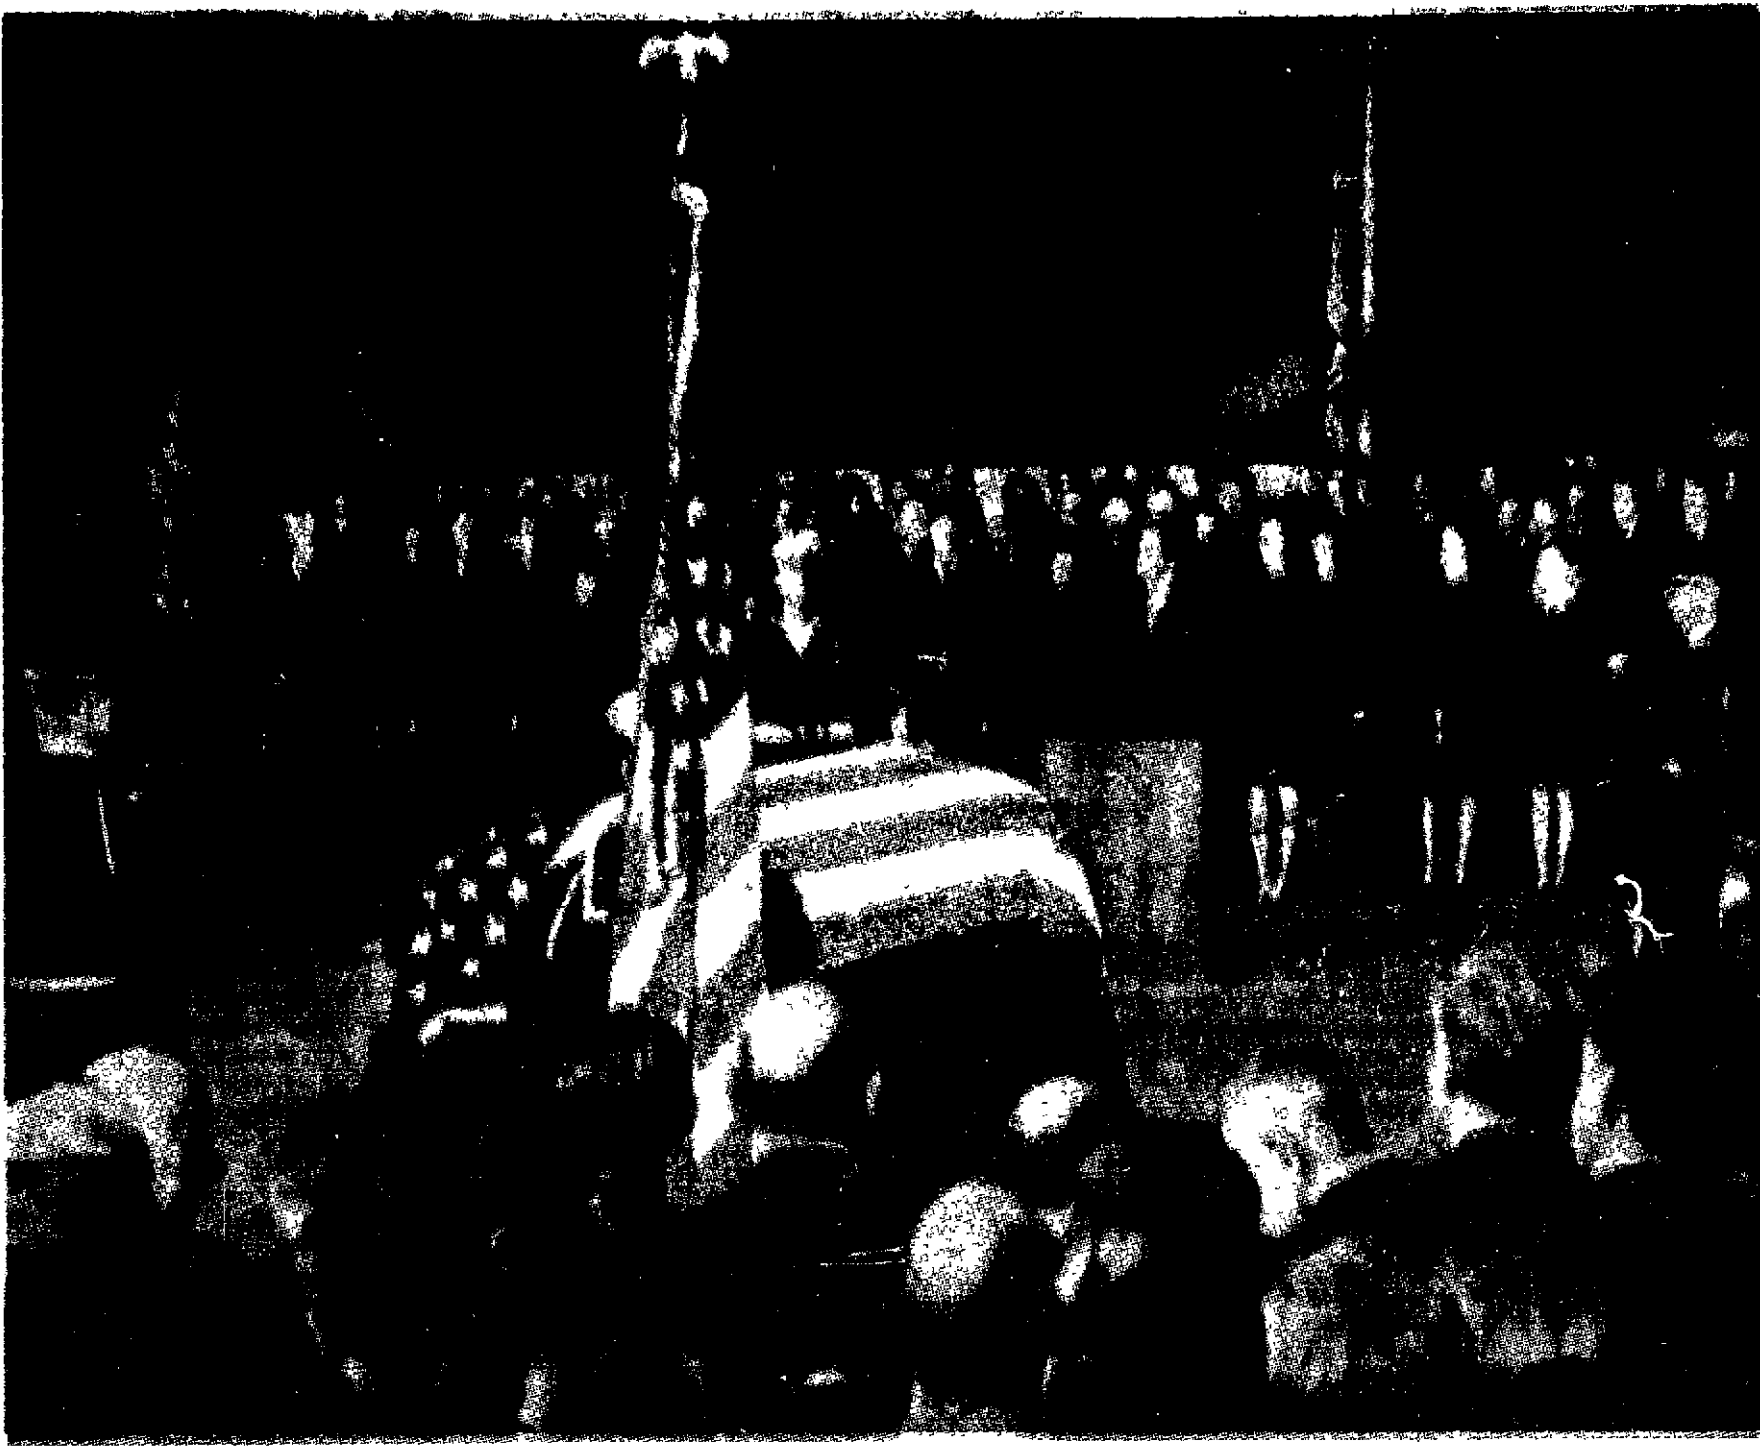

The march of mourners halted briefly while King Baudouin, clad in air force uniform with purple sash, presented a white floral wreath. He placed it gently, then stood at sharp attention and saluted.

Rearless Line
Again the quiet, tearless, affectionate line moved. By mid-morning fully half its numbers were children. Schools were closed and government offices excused on this day of national mourning.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, De Gaulle, here to mourn a World War II comrade in arms, conferred privately in the White House with President Nixon on the problems of a world not yet made safe for democracy.

Other presidents, prime min-

Fights Back Tears

Mamie Composed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower's eyes never left the flag-shrouded casket of the husband whose last thoughts and words were for her.

Twice she seemed to fight back tears.

Amid the great assemblage of world and national leaders in the Capitol Rotunda, the former president's wife of nearly 53 years was calm and composed.

And so she remained during President Nixon's 16 minute eulogy, through the President's recitation of her husband's last words.

"I've always loved my wife. I've always loved my children. I've always loved my grandchildren. I have always loved my country."

Last Words

Dwight D. Eisenhower, Nixon said, spoke these words to his wife just before he died last Friday.

When the eulogy was over, Mrs. Eisenhower returned to seclusion and private grief.

She and other members of the family have stayed close together in hotel suites while leaders of the world gather for the funeral.

Mrs. Eisenhower has sought to restrict this sorrowful part of her life to members of her family, a friend said.

Sammy Davis Jr. Cited by NAACP

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. has received the 53rd annual Spingarn Award from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for his "accomplishments, talent and humanity."

In accepting the honor, Sunday, Davis, 43, urged Negro activism and creation of black studies in American universities, but he said he is opposed to black separatism.

Through it all, in public, Mrs. Eisenhower, 72, has clung to the arm of her son, John, 46, who has been seen often to give her black gloved hand a reassuring pat.

Grandchildren Present

The four grandchildren have attended the public services, as erect and composed as their grandmother.

When Eisenhower's body was taken into the Rotunda, the grandchildren walked slowly up the steps behind it.

David, 21 today, and Julie, his wife and daughter of President Nixon, and David's sister, Susan, 17, went first, all holding hands. Also there were Mary Jean Eisenhower, 13; and Barbara Anne, 19, and her husband, Fernando Echavarria-Urbe of Bogota, Colombia.

Mrs. Eisenhower, John, and his wife, Barbara, did not stand at the steps for the ceremony there but went into the Capitol by a door beneath the steps and left that way.

Nigeria Denies Civilian Bomb Casualty Charge

LAGOS, (AP) — Nigeria's federal head of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, charged today Biafrans had "stage-managed" civilian bomb casualties and said he would not stop bombing the secessionist area.

Reducing civilian bomb casualties was regarded as a major objective of the four-day visit by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who left this morning for Addis Ababa. Gowon spoke later at a news conference.

He called his two long talks with Wilson "frank, fruitful, full . . . very successful" and generally "worth it."

He said he had no objection to Wilson meeting Biafran leader Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu and added he hoped "some good would come out of it."

Bombing Halt Has Had Little Military Effect on U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officers say the United States has suffered little militarily from the prohibition against bombing North Vietnam, begun in limited fashion one year ago today.

This attitude would seem to be an admission that the air campaign against the North, launched in February 1965, was not as vital as the Pentagon made it out to be.

Troop Level

At the same time, however, Hanoi has not been able, or has not chosen, to build up a much larger force in South Vietnam. Its troop level today is about what it was when the bombs were falling—around 100,000.

Former President Johnson restricted U.S. bombing of North Vietnam last March 31 to the narrow panhandle beneath the 20th parallel to encourage Hanoi to enter peace negotiations. Last Nov. 1, with talks imminent, he made the prohibition complete.

There was some concern the bombing halt would bring a dangerous North Vietnamese threat to U.S. Marines stationed below the demilitarized zone separating the two countries. The United States warned Hanoi in advance to respect the supposedly mutual nature of the DMZ.

Not in Jeopardy

Officers say Hanoi still plays fast and loose with the DMZ but not to the extent that U.S. forces have been placed in serious jeopardy.

U.S. intelligence estimates 1,500 to 3,000 North Vietnamese operate continuously in the 12-mile zone but few are combat types.

Most are patrols or are in construction units sent in to repair fortifications in North Vietnam's six-mile portion of the DMZ. Small armed units do slip through occasionally to raid Marine outposts.

Risk Invasion

If Vietnamese were massed above the DMZ, officers say the United States would face the choice of resuming the bombing—and probably disrupting the Paris peace talks—or risking a costly invasion.

"Those divisions could be deployed near the DMZ," one officer said, "but I don't believe they would be pushed through. I think Hanoi would hesitate before so flagrantly violating the DMZ to provoke a resumption of the bombing."

The United States still "attacks" North Vietnamese territory on occasion.

China Silent on Soviet Offer for Border Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Red Chinese have not reacted to a Soviet note seeking talks to eliminate tension on the Manchurian border, and the general feeling here is that the Kremlin does not expect them to.

Observers felt Moscow merely wanted to show its Warsaw Pact allies it is trying to solve the Soviet-Chinese border dispute in a reasonable way, hoping to resolve the disagreements it sparked among East-bloc countries.

These disagreements reportedly led to another postponement of the long delayed world Communist conference. At a recent preparatory meeting in Moscow, Romania was reported to have been most critical of Soviet handling of the border dispute.

Big Play

The Soviet's note, delivered to the Chinese Embassy here Saturday, got big play in Russian newspapers Sunday. It was calm and restrained, markedly different from the usual invective traded by Moscow and Peking.

"The Soviet government is firmly convinced the vital interests of the Soviet and Chinese people will enable them to remove and overcome difficulties in Soviet-Chinese relations," it said.

The note invited Peking to resume Chinese-Soviet border talks that started in February 1964 and were broken off that same year. But it indicated no softening in the Soviet attitude toward China's extensive territorial claims, dismissing them as "a concoction from beginning to end."

It also warned: "The Soviet government states and considers it necessary to reiterate that it resolutely rejects any encroachments by anyone on Soviet lands and that any attempts to talk to the Soviet Union in the language of weapons will be met with a firm rebuff."

Israel Expects Critical Time After Rejecting Big 4 Offer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel was digging in today for a critical spring and summer after its Cabinet rejected any Big Four settlement for the Middle East and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser talked again of war.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told border settlers the summer would be "most critical" because the Egyptian regime is under heavy pressure to renew the war or abdicate. And Nasser said Sunday that war with Israel is inevitable "so long as they refuse to withdraw from the occupied Arab lands."

Addressing the national congress of the Arab Socialist Union, Nasser said: "The days when we could not answer Israeli shelling have passed. We now can hit back, and hit violently." However, he said Egypt still hoped the coming four-power talks in New York at the United Nations would result in some kind of peace settlement.

Before Talks

Because the meetings of the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union are expected to begin this week, the Israeli Cabinet decided Sunday to state its position before rather than after the talks.

The Cabinet communique said: "Israel entirely opposes the plan to convene representatives of states outside the Mid-

Security Needs

It was no secret that the Israelis opposed the talks. They are said to believe that an imposed solution could only benefit the Arabs because they expect Russia and France to insist that Israel withdraw from the lands it occupied in the June 1967 war. Before Israel gives up its biggest bargaining lever, it wants a signed peace agreement with the Arabs.

The Cabinet asserted that in the absence of a signed peace treaty with its neighbors, Israel will "consolidate her position in accordance with the vital need of security and development."

As if to underscore this, Israel

jets streaked over the Jordanian cease-fire line Sunday morning. The army said they attacked guerrilla positions which opened fire on a patrol and wounded four border guards.

Later an Israeli border town was shelled, but it could not be determined whether the fire was returned. No casualties or damage were reported.

Artillery Exchanges

The planes went in as the U.N. Security Council continued to study a Jordanian complaint against a similar attack Wednesday in which Jordan said 18 civilians were killed. There was strong pressure to pass a resolution condemning the raid.

On Sunday, staff officers said Israel expects trouble with Egypt along the Suez Canal, where the two armies have frequently exchanged artillery fire in recent weeks.

Chubby Vietnamese Orphan Finds a Home

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Little Kieu Thi Lan Hornberger is new to America. And the Vietnam war orphan still cries if someone brings out her airline travel bag.

Kieu Thi Lan
She isn't quite brave enough to go outside the house, either. Kieu's arrival last week at the George Hornberger home climaxed a two-year battle with red tape. The chubby girl is now two years and eight months old.

Month of Delay

"We wrote to the Sacred Heart orphanage in Da Nang and they sent us photographs of her. She was only eight months old. Her pictures were so cute."

Month after month of official delay followed.

"Many times we felt discouraged when we had setbacks. But we wouldn't give up until we had tried every last avenue to get her to America," Mrs. Hornberger said.

Finally, a South Vietnamese attorney succeeded in putting

the necessary documents through channels.

Kieu Thi Lan was packed up and Pan American Airline stewardesses watched over the dimpled American-Vietnamese tot as she traveled alone from Saigon to San Francisco.

Accompany Child

A note taped to the blue flight bag read:

"Three years old. She is going to join her new parents in Philadelphia. She does not speak English."

She may not speak much of it, but Kieu Thi Lan, Americanized by the Hornbergers to Marie Theresa, constantly amazes

them by dropping English words into her Vietnamese baby talk.

"All gone," she once sighed when her sister Rita Lynn, 12, broke a red airlines balloon. She has another sister, Lisa Marie, 2½, and a brother, George Jr., 4. Her foster father and mother are both 25.

Marie Theresa has gone off her milk and crackers Vietnamese diet and gobbles spaghetti, hot dogs, potato chips and cookies. There are plenty of cookies. Her new father is a baker.

School Bond Referendum Poses Problem at Waupaca

Board Makes Pleas for $2.9 Million

WAUPACA — With electors just one day away from deciding on a double-barreled school bonding referendum vote, they are being deluged with pleas for support of the $2.9 million senior high school and $250,000 swimming pool in the building.

The urging is coming from the Waupaca Board of Education and the Better Schools for Waupaca Committee.

They have taken their cause to each resident in the City of Waupaca and the towns of Dayton, Farmington, Lind, St. Lawrence, Scandinavia and Waupaca in Waupaca County; the towns of Belmont and Lanark in Portage County, and the Town of Saxeville in Wau-shara County.

A leaflet, prepared by the board of education and presented to each Waupaca school system taxpayer, asks them to consider 12 key questions and answers before they vote this second time on the school bond issue.

What Problem

These questions and the board's answers are:

1. What is wrong with the high school as it is now? The basic buildings are 50 years old and a limit may have been reached. The State Department of Public Instruction and independent school consultants have advised that present facilities are deficient in guidance, science, vocational training, business, languages, agriculture and even driver education.

They are overcrowded, under-equipped, unsuited for expansion and unable to cope with projected increased enrollments of 30 per cent within the next eight years.

2. What is wrong with the elementary schools? The same sources warn of the lack of facilities, and crowded classrooms, inadequate gym, cafeteria and kitchen areas. At present 12 per cent of the

Kaukauna District $1.5 Million School Bond Issue May Spark Vandebroek Parley

A $1,500,000 school bonding referendum for the Kaukauna School District may spark discussion at 8 p.m. meeting today at the annual Town of Vandebroek meeting in the town hall.

An estimated 80 per cent of the families in the town are in the school district. The bonding proposal would provide funds for a new school at Kaukauna.

Opposition Mounts on Bond Issues

WAUPACA — Strong opposition is arising over the proposed school bond issues, and an unprecedented voter turnout is anticipated for the Tuesday election.

The board of education is proposing bond issues of $2.9 million for a new high school and $250,000 for a swimming pool in the building.

Responses from eligible voters polled during the past week show that a "no" vote on the high school is generated from their concern about the increased taxes and the fact that a new high school will not solve the existing and future problems in the school district.

"We know that we need a new high school but we do not need a swimming pool, 10 laboratories, 4 shops and 3 resource rooms as much as we need the classrooms in the next two to four years," commented one father of three boys in elementary school.

Grade Rooms

"I think that the 180 children in elementary grades which are now going to classes in rented facilities should be considered first," he added. "Our first step should be to build the proposed 14 classroom elementary school at King or to add to several of the outlying elementary schools, as some of our interested citizens have proposed."

A number of parents have been struggling with the problem of what is best for the Waupaca school students since the school bond issue was defeated last year. If the proposed four-year high school is built, it would have 23 classrooms for 800 students. Some of the taxpayers question whether this would be sufficient?

Others cannot reconcile the projected enrollment increases in high school of 30 per cent within the next eight years.

Elementary Enrollment

As one parents pointed out: "Elementary enrollments have increased 4 per cent, according to the figures the board of education has supplied. There were 1,396 pupils in kindergarten through grade six in September, 1967, and as of Jan. 1, 1969, the figure was 1,451. If this increase is to mount another 24 per cent by 1977, where are the children coming from?"

The Waupaca school district is supported by an agricultural economy, asserted another taxpayer. "The school board would

Seymour Man in Fair Condition After Collision

ONEIDA — Bruce Liesch, 19, 422 Lincoln St., Seymour, is in fair condition today at St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay, with serious injuries he suffered early Sunday when his car left State 54, 2½ miles west of Oneida, and struck a concrete culvert.

Hospital officials said Liesch, who was alone in his car, suffered head and back injuries, face lacerations, and a fractured nose. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance about 5:45 a.m. Sunday.

According to Outagamie County police, Liesch was west-bound on 54 when he fell asleep. His car then left the road and rammed the culvert. The 1965 auto was demolished.

New London High Students Qualify For Merit System

NEW LONDON — Nearly 60 per cent of the high school students here qualified for the fourth quarter merit system, according to J. P. Vander Zanden, senior high school principal.

The merit system allows students to choose their own manner of study and activities during non-class hours. Students achieve the status by working up to their potential and by maintaining a high level of conduct in school and the community.

Vander Zanden reports 368 out of 619 students for 59.45 per cent of the student body made the honor program. During the third quarter over 67 per cent of the student body qualified for the merit system.

The senior class headed the list with 63.1 per cent, which is 118 out of 187 students earning merit rating. The sophomores with 57.9 per cent, 128 of 221, were next, while the juniors were a close third with 122 of 211, 57.8 per cent.

The Motorola Quasar

Motorola Quasar is different. All-transistor Color TV Except for Rectifier Tube. Most of the important components, for instance, are in a drawer that slides out.

And the works themselves are different, too. They are modules that plug in and plug out. Each module is a mini-circuit with its own job to do. There is a picture module, a color module, a sound module, and so on.

You can look around on those modules for tubes, but in the Quasar chassis, the only thing that looks like a tube is the rectifier. For the rest of it, transistors and other solid state devices have replaced tubes.

The Quasar is designed this way for dependable performance. No machine is perfect, however. Even the Quasar will need service—sometimes. And when it does, this design offers another benefit. If a module is the offender, it can be unplugged and its replacement plugged in. In your home. In minutes.

have us believe that industry in this area is going to create a boom in our population, and this I can't believe. Besides, what does it have to do with our immediate problem? I could see this more clearly—the need for the new and bigger high school—if the kids were in our elementary grades now."

The cost of the proposed high school appears to be out of line to a number of the district's taxpayers.

"Two years ago when we talked about merging our district with Weyauwega, we were told a high school could be built for $1.5 million," said one.

"Now we are talking about $2.9 million."

"We understand that construction costs are increasing at the rate of 12 to 20 per cent each year, but doubling the cost cannot be accounted for by increased construction costs. Our outside planners, I feel, have just added a lot of extras, and the tax burden is too great," said one town official.

"Many of our people know this, they talk about it. But they'd better get out and make their vote count on Tuesday—or it will be too late. When the taxes strike—it's too late to cry," he added.

Grave concern also is expressed by the men and women living on social security and staying in their homes. Many farmers in the 50-year-old age bracket, are looking ahead to 10 years from now when they are retired and heavier taxes will be a "noose around our necks," one farmer commented.

Proponents of the school bond issue are saying that the new school would cost $4.44 per $1,000 valuation and careful thinkers have examined this from realistic points of view.

They will be paying their school taxes on the assessed valuation of their land, double the equalized valuation used by the board of education in calculating the cost.

Spelled out by one taxpayer, this will mean that if the school construction program is set at $3.48 per $1,000 equalized valuation, it will mean the following increases in units of the district:

$10.70 per $1,000 assessed valuation in the Town of Farmington; $9.15 in the Town of Dayton; $11.90 in the Town of St. Lawrence; $6.44 in the Town of Scandinavia; $9.26 in the Town of Belmont, and $14.40 in the Town of Saxeville.

Increased taxes can force a number of retired people out of their homes, opponents claim. A mother of four, put it this way: "It will teach my children nothing about the true values of life, to have others going without so they can have all of the luxuries in their school."

Stating that he was a strong believer in education for children, one retired businessman who admits his budget can handle the increased tax, put his objection to the proposed school plan in these words: "I thought that a new gym, a new auditorium, the vocational suite, a swimming pool would make better adults of our boys and girls. I'd vote for a new school. I just can't believe that it will—because we have given them many things already and it isn't turning the trick."

elementary pupils are taught in scattered rented quarters.

Urged Repair

3. Why not postpone a decision?

In 1968 the state Department of Public Instruction recommended improvements which have not been effected and cannot be met in present facilities. It will take another two years from the date of approval of the bond issue to open a new bond issue, to be repaid in 20 years, means an average tax increase of $4.44 per $1,000 of EQ valuation over the life of the bond issue.

Experts have examined many, including extensive remodeling. The possibilities are severely limited, costs could not be many of them at the crisis substantially reduced and solutions only would be postponed. If double shifts are employed, as an emergency measure, major items of expense, including salaries, would double.

5. Are there any frills in the plans which can be eliminated? There are no frills, the board claims. The plans call for a functional, efficient complex of buildings designed to meet the needs of modern education, including an auditorium, a gym, a cafeteria, parking space and visual-aid equipment. The swimming pool, viewed as a valuable asset in physical education and recreation by the board of education, has been separated on the ballot.

Costs Rising

6. Is this the time to build? Construction costs are increasing at a rate of 10 to 12 per cent yearly, with no economic projections of lower costs in the immediate future.

7. Why a school plant of this size, if our population is not growing?

Waupaca is a "growth" community, the board says. The school plant is not adequate for present enrollment. Projected enrollments for the next eight years show a 30 per cent increase.

8. Aren't Waupaca taxes too high as it is? With the proposed new school plant, Waupaca will have a mill rate of $18.84 per $1,000 assessed valuation, lower than nine neighboring communities' rates, according to 1968 figures. Waupaca's present rate is $14.40.

9. Why do modern schools cost so much? The fund of knowledge in most fields has multiplied, students must absorb more knowledge, and few occupations are open to anyone without at least a good high school education.

10. Why is the new school referred to as an investment? What are the returns on this investment?

Four major areas of benefits are shown — first-rate schools attract and hold business and industry; attract and hold the best qualified teachers; reduce the dropout rate, and stop the "Youth Drain" — one of Waupaca's most serious problems, the board claims. The community must retain a fair proportion of its young men and women to sustain and build the Waupaca of the 1970s and 1980s.

11. In a nutshell, what will the new plant cost? The $2.9 million bond issue, to be repaid in 20 years, means an average tax increase of $4.44 per $1,000 of EQ valuation over the life of the bond issue.

12. What happens if the bond issue is denied? The problems, limited, costs could not be many of them at the crisis substantially reduced and solutions only would be postponed. If double shifts are employed, as an emergency measure, major items of expense, including salaries, would double.

A Vote for Better Local Government

There has been so much confusion regarding the constitutional amendment on county government up for ratification by the voters Tuesday that The Post-Crescent believes one final clarification is in order. For this is probably the most important step toward modernization of local government in the state that has been put before the electorate in many years.

The language of the question on the ballot is confusing so we will omit repeating it today. Instead let's get down to the meat of the question.

The Wisconsin Constitution requires that all county governments in the state shall be "as nearly uniform as practicable." Therefore a specific exemption from this uniformity requirement must be added to the constitution before the legislature may permit larger and more populous counties to have a different form of government structure than the smaller rural counties.

This was done in the case of Milwaukee County. In 1962 an amendment was approved allowing counties of over 500,000 population to elect a county executive, with veto power, an office similar in nature to the president of a village, the mayor of a city or the governor of the state.

In 1963 the legislature passed a law giving counties authority to elect or appoint an administrator, whose duties are spelled out in the law. An administrator does not have veto power. But there is a question whether this law is constitutional in view of the requirement for uniformity.

If voters approve the amendment Tuesday, it will do two things:

1. It will clearly establish that the county administrator law is constitutional. The legislature may then proceed if it wishes to amend and strengthen that law. Many experts in county government believe that the law needs improving, for to date not a single county in the state has taken advantage of this authority.

2. It will permit the legislature to extend to counties other than Milwaukee authority to elect a county executive officer. Providing the amendment is approved, legislation will then be introduced outlining the duties and authority of such an executive.

As we have pointed out on numerous occasions, county government must have an executive head if it is to take on the functions of metropolitan government in the urban areas of the state. The Tarr Commission in its study report said: "Increasingly it has become obvious that boards or committees function best in determination of policy, while individuals with broad powers of responsibility more effectively provide executive leadership. . . . The elected executive with a veto power is the form of organization which the American people understand and respect. It permits the establishment of an administration with clear policy-making authority to provide for the county a direction for growth and improvement."

If you are in favor of more efficient government at the local level in Wisconsin, you should vote Yes on the county reform amendment.

Kaukauna School Board President Defends Plans for New School

Editor, The Post-Crescent.

Mr. Russel Dix asks if we should have another school — the type and size of the new Quinney school? By asking this question he is suggesting that there is something grossly wrong with the type and size of Quinney? Quinney was designed to house grades K-8, which it does. It was designed to house 650 students, and there are now 689 students in attendance, so its size is being utilized. The design of any school building must be determined by the age range of the students within it and the activities that are to take place within it. Quinney was designed as a K-8 school and is functioning as a K-8 school. The proposed Northside school is designed to house grades K-6 so it is of a different design because the age range is different and the activities that are to take place in it are different. The proposed school will not include facilities for the junior high grades 7-8 and therefore can be designed specifically for the younger elementary grades. Junior High classes are departmentalized and require specific rooms for specific courses, whereas in the new school the grades will function around an educational philosophy suited to the elementary grades only. This allows for an optimum design based around a central library learning center with classrooms immediately available to this center. The educational philosophy dictates that there be mobility of students from their rooms to the library learning center. The interior of the school is therefore built with a minimum of hallways and walls to allow this student movement. The type of school to be built on the northside has been well thought out during many hours of work on the part of the School Board members and the new school is designed to give the students at the school the best education possible.

Mr. Dix also states that the birth rate for the state has been declining since 1960 and the same is true for Kaukauna. Actually the number of births in the Fox City's hospitals did not start to decline until 1964 and reached the low point in 1967. The actual births for 1968 again show an increase. Also to be taken into consideration at this point are the number of marriages, which in Outagamie County increased over 25 per cent from 1965 to 1968. With the increase in the number of marriages, the number of babies born will increase even if the "birthrate" should remain the same. Mr. Dix also apparently does not believe that the City of Kaukauna is a growing prospering community. Appleton Post-Crescent figures indicate Kaukauna's growth rate at over 26 per cent since the 1960 census. In addition the Towns of VandenBroek and Buchanan, parts of both, are in Joint District No. 2, and have grown at rates approaching 100 per cent since the 1960 census. Local industries show increases of almost 200 employees in the past 5 years.

As far as Mr. Dix's assertion that the Board of Education is responsible for the expenditure of $2,000 for the January 28, 1969 election, may I remind him that he was one of the circulators of the petition which caused the referendum vote. When the petition was filed the Board of Education was notified by the contractors that their 90 day holding period expired on February 5, 1969 and they could not expect to hold subcontractors beyond this time. When the January 28 election was declared invalid, all contractors and subcontractors were again contacted by the Board of Education through the architect, and after much discussion and persuasion, they were convinced to hold their bids firm for an additional 60 days. Instead of criticizing the expenditure of $2,000, Mr. Dix should be happy about the substantial amount of savings that will be realized from the contractor's agreement with the Board of Education to hold their bids for this extended period of time.

The tax burden in the City of Kaukauna is increasing and no one is more aware of this problem than the Board of Education. The Board feels, and has often stated its position to the Fiscal Control Board, that a new formula to calculate aids at the State level must be forthcoming in the near future if there is to be any property tax relief. At the present time, Kaukauna School District No. 2 is one of only 39 school districts left in the State of Wisconsin which receive flat state aids. This aid formula is based on the fact that Joint District No. 2 has more than $39,000 equalized valuation behind each student in attendance in the public schools.

The Board of Education has recently endorsed a new formula, introduced by State Superintendent William Kohl, to the 1969 State Legislators. This formula, if passed by the State Legislators, would realize an additional $100,000 in aids to Joint District No. 2, thus saving the citizens of Kaukauna $3.00 per thousand assessed valuation based on present valuations. We urge all interested taxpayers to support these new proposals in order to obtain additional property tax relief in Joint District No. 2.

13.5 per cent in 1968 and will increase another 24.2 per cent in the period 1969-70.

The inference, by Mr. Dix, that the Board of Education accepted the building proposal of the architect is very misleading and untrue. An architect can only draw plans from specifications which were supplied him by the owners of the building or in this case by committees of board members, educators and administrators. These specifications were arrived at by visiting many schools throughout the state of Wisconsin and Illinois. The best features of the various schools that would fit the educational philosophy of Kaukauna Joint District No. 2 were incorporated into the plans. Actually the final plan as accepted by the Board of Education and the Fiscal Control Board was the 11th plan that the architect submitted from the specifications with which he was furnished. So when Mr. Dix infers that the Board of Education did not make the proper studies before accepting the plans, I must state that all necessary studies were made in great detail long before the final plans for the building were accepted.

Mr. Dix also states that the birth rate for the state has been declining since 1960 and the same is true for Kaukauna. Actually the number of births in the Fox City's hospitals did not start to decline until 1964 and reached the low point in 1967. The actual births for 1968 again show an increase. Also to be taken into consideration at this point are the number of marriages, which in Outagamie County increased over 25 per cent from 1965 to 1968. With the increase in the number of marriages, the number of babies born will increase even if the "birthrate" should remain the same. Mr. Dix also apparently does not believe that the City of Kaukauna is a growing prospering community. Kimberly Basketball Team Parents Shout Their Pride

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

We the parents of the Kimberly varsity basketball players would like to tell the Fox Valley are just how proud we are of them. They have played their hearts and souls out for the people of Kimberly this year. We all know just how badly they wanted to come home with that first place trophy. In our hearts these boys will always be number one. They are a very fine group of boys and when you read all the things about teenagers in the papers all you have to do is look at these boys and your heart grows warm. They have never gotten the big head as some people thought they would. They are very humble adults. They have character which was shown when they won that basketball game on Saturday. We as adults know just how hard it is to bounce back after being so down in the dumps from the defeat on Friday. We just want to say in The Post-Crescent so all can read it that: "We love you and we are so very proud of you. You are number one with us now and always will be."

Wisconsin Report

Student of Depression Era Must Marvel at Campus Life Today

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Among the revelations following the troubles about the "black power" demands upon the University of Wisconsin lately was the fact that the school is now actively recruiting Negro students, providing them financial aid, special tutoring, and as much time as five years in which to earn a bachelor's degree.

It is not the purpose of this report to be critical of that about student conduct. History may very well say that the country's sweeping under the rug for more than a century the problems of its principal ethnic minority was one of the greatest blunders of its national life.

Nevertheless, there must be some envious musing among the lives of many hundreds of impecunious undergraduates of 1933 was the closing of the banks by President Roosevelt and Gov. Schmedeman.

WAS GREAT EQUALIZER
Like the Colt revolver of the pioneer plainsman, the depression was the great equalizer. Nobody had any money, and the boy with empty pockets had a credit standing as weak as his seat-mate who had an allowance from home.

There were no disputes about student conduct. Young men and women behaved of they were kicked out. The idea of appealing to the courts to overturn an expulsion order would have been laughed down. Students fought over mental jobs to cover two dollar a week rooms, or meals priced at 25 cents.

I can recall one student who was fed from the back door of a low cost restaurant for months because he was lucky enough to have a friend inside as a cook's helper. Burned in my memory is the Thanksgiving Day sentiment expressed by another who in a cold room opened a small can of beans — his only meal of the day.

ROTC GAVE CLOTHES
There were more boys than the officers liked to admit who enrolled in ROTC for no better reason than the hint from an observant and sympathetic professor that such an act would assure a government issue uniform, some shirts, hat, etc.

Tough but realistic Dean George Sillery, likely as not, would deny a student's plea for a reduced schedule by dropping ROTC, or geography, or elementary French, or whatever, with the brief rejoinder that "here we regard those as recreation."

There were a few dollars in loan and scholarship money, but so few in fact, that a career secretary named Sarah Ter Horst, who could see through a suppliant without benefit of x-ray, handled the entire program in her spare time. Work was so scarce and affairs at home were in such condition that any student who had any kind of employment at Madison, however trivial, gave up his holidays and vacations to hang onto it.

Young skeptics of today will no doubt be amused by such recollections. But there are hundreds of men and women in Wisconsin who remember these and more, as if they happened yesterday. Among them are one of the prominent judges of Wisconsin, one of the state's most successful lawyers, and the goggle-eyed freshman of 1932 who writes these lines.

Wyngaard

the middle-aged population of Wisconsin about such policies, and especially those whose campus experience was in more difficult times. Say those who enrolled in 1932, when the Great Depression had reached its deepest trough, but when some thousands of financially handicapped students representing underprivileged backgrounds and other ethnic minorities, undertook the challenge of university matriculation, nevertheless.

RECALLED BY LETER

These reflections are inspired by a letter recently received from an estimable lady who served for many years as chief secretary to the dean of the College of Letters and Sciences on the Madison campus.

In those days the "dean" was somebody, indeed. Everybody knew who he was. He was the No. 2 man on campus, ranking only below the president. Today there is such a thick veneer of executive bureaucracy that the dean is virtually anonymous. But that is an aside.

More pertinent is the fact that class after class enrolled in those days against the most formidable handicaps that could not have been conceived, and in fact, are heard with utter disbelief by the young people of today when their elders occasionally relate them in a mellow mood. One of the most important facts in

Natural Beauty Council Asks 'Yes' on ORAP Ballot

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Since the kick-off dinner of the Outagamie County Natural Beauty Council, many people have asked me what they as individuals can do to better their environment. An opportunity for effective action will come up on April 1.

In 1961 the Outdoor Recreation Act Program was passed, and 17,600 acres of land were acquired. The funds to develop all of that land so people might use it for recreation have not as yet been available. A task force of citizens concerned with this and with the problem of water pollution has studied the situation and made recommendations.

Water pollution must be dealt with; municipal sewage treatment plants simply have to be enlarged. Appleton residents might consider that four million gallons of untreated sewage each day (!) bypass the Menasha sewage treatment plant and flow into the Fox River about four miles from Appleton's point of intake for its own water supply.

The task force has suggested that the original ORAP initials now stand for Outdoor Resources Action Plan. Three-fourths of the money raised by bonding will be made available for municipal sewage treatment facilities. The other one-fourth will go to complete and expand park projects.

The recommendations of the task force will be presented to the voters on April 1. I urge all who would like to improve their physical environment to vote YES to both suggestions of that task force.

New Monetary System Badly Needed in U. S.

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

The use of money in the acquisition of the goods of another plays too intimate a part in the daily activity of the average individual for him to remain in a degree of ignorance as to the nature of money and the instrument for its use, the monetary system.

We have no monetary system today, and, consequently, there should be no price system since, without a monetary system, there can be no prices. Thus, we face the anomalous situation of apparent, or stated prices, in the absence of a monetary system. What has happened is that fiat currency, having no relationship to money, is used in acquisition of the produce of another, in the va grant thought that the recipient of the fiat paper currency will get as much as he gave for it, before its value in acquisition disappears. As far as redemption of the bill in terms of the standard-unit of a monetary system is concerned the dollar-bill has the same value as the fiat hundred or thousand dollar bill, just another piece of irredeemable paper in exchange.

The standard gold formerly used in redemption is now used by the government internationally in barter arrangements, since there is no international monetary system, at a fraction of the original standard-unit value. It is also used for obscure political purposes.

The general public is slowly resolving the problem by increasing its demand for more fiat (false) currency for the same real wealth. This will tend to continue until a state of barter-exchange will prevail. Thus, one can see the pressing need for a new monetary system.

Big Four Leadership Needed in Middle East

Israel's opposition to Big Four talks to try to solve the problems of the Middle East received a blow with the failures of private talks between Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban and King Hussein of Jordan.

Neither country has admitted that such talks took place although newsmen report that the news is accepted as factual by Israeli officials. Most likely at least one conference took place last September when King Hussein was in London for medical treatment and when Mr. Eban was also there en route to the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York. They might have also met in late October, and in January Mr. Eban made a secret trip to Western Europe which, when it was revealed, was claimed to be to meet with Dr. Gunnar Jarring, U. N. special representative, to try to get the Arabs and Israelis together.

The extent of the danger to King Hussein is considerable. His grandfather, King Abdullah, was assassinated in 1951 because he made contacts with Israeli leaders to try to find areas of agreement. Extremist elements among the Arabs have been growing and apparently transcend national borders. It is the threat of open revolt that has held back both King Hussein and President Nasser of the United Arab Republic for agreeing to meet with representatives of Israel.

Foreign Minister Eban still holds out hope for agreement although reportedly the private talks made little if any progress.

Critical Report on the Job Corps

The report by the General Accounting Office about the Job Corps is discouraging and demonstrates the continuing problem to society as a whole of disadvantaged children.

The Job Corps has always been controversial because some communities didn't want camps established nearby, there was obviously a large dropout rate, there were racial conflicts, and the contrast between the advantages of Job Corps life as compared to that of a military draftee. But Job Corps advocates insisted that the program was enabling deprived youths to learn a trade which would earn them good employment and a means of improving their situations.

But the GAO report, which in general was approving of other anti-poverty programs of the Office of Economic Activity, flatly stated that the Job Corps achievements had been so limited that Congress should consider disbanding the program. Even the successes were discounted. "It appeared that the increased employment in earning power among those included in our sample can be attributable, in the most part, to the greater employability of the youths due to the process of growing up and to higher employment and wage levels . . . it also appeared that the Job Corps trainees had not done materially better than other eligible youths who had applied to enter the program and then chose not to participate."

The actual cost to the government of each enrollee, the GAO reported, was $8,300, a year which is considerably higher than even the most exclusive universities. The average stay was only six months. And despite widespread advertising the Job Corps has never been able to recruit its quota of applicants.

President Nixon is transferring the Job Corps program to the Department of Labor in an effort to combine it with other manpower training projects and this may have some effect at least upon the costs.

But the study is another indication of the extent of the problems created in the United States by the failures of government, industry and everyday Americans in letting the ghettos develop. We were all looking in other directions for too long.

Looking Backward

'Whose Boy Is This?,' Asks Post

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for April 8, 1869.

He may be seen any day, in almost any part of the town—he never makes room for you on the side-walk, looks at you saucily, and generally swears smartly if asked anything.

He generally is very impudent, and often vulgar to women who pass. He delights in frightening and sometimes does serious injury to little boys and girls. He lounges at street corners and is the first arrival at a dog-fight or any other sort of scrape.

He crowds into the post-office in the evening, multiplies himself and his antics at such a rate that people having legitimate business there are crowded out.

The thinks himself very sharp, he is certainly very noisy. He can smoke and chew tobacco now and then, and rip out an oath anytime.

We ask, "Whose boy is he? Mother, is he yours?"

We think he is, for there are many good qualities in the lad and we do not think you know what he does on the streets..

Look after him mother, keep him more at home. Train him and you will have a son to be proud of some day.

The United States Supreme Court upheld that day as unconstitutional the provisions of the emergency price control act and OPA's rent control program.

Four Roosevelt Junior High School students won places in an original art contest held in Milwaukee. The students were Dolores Kunstman, winner of a first place key, Margaret Schemm, Eugene Steckler and John Kloeck. Their work was done under art instructor Caroline Feutz.

Miss Inez Deschler took over the duties of financial secretary of the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Joseph Church. She replaced a member who was moving away from Appleton. Miss Alma Grieshaber.

Officers that year of the Kaukauna High School Band were Lee Jacob, president; Helen Forde, vice president; and Joanne Kappell, secretary-treasurer.

Appraiser's Fears Are Not Born Out by Facts

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
An Appleton appraiser has pictured some dire events that might result if ten or fifteen Negro families moved into a neighborhood, due to relocation, probably by some governmental agency or church group.
Negro entry usually occurs because of a labor shortage, the opening of new jobs by an incoming industry, or the relocation of an industry bringing some of its work force. The latter was the case in an all-white Minnesota town, when a meat-packing plant transferred from Illinois. Mr. Torinus recently described what happened: with planning and non-scare publicity by the newspaper and various local groups, and a housing survey by a realtor, the newcomers distributed themselves in homes all around the area. They were very well received.

In 1934 the federal government gave official support to prejudice, in its FHA policy that neighborhood stability depends on restriction to one race or class. This became a tenet of the National Association of Real Estate Boards until 1948, when the Supreme Court declared restrictive covenants unenforceable. In 1962, President Kennedy threw the weight of government behind the ideal of integration in housing. Viewed against the historical belief in the decline of property values, it is no wonder that some home owners fear the entry of a Negro family, and express it in panic selling. This was often encouraged by profiteering "block-busters," but whenever people stay put, prices stay stable. According to a League of Women Voters study, "research is now documenting the fact that race is only one of many factors that affect real estate prices, and often not the most important." Other factors are price levels, the economic and social status of the minority group, the physical condition of the neighborhood, degree of transition, rezoning to permit industry, the leadership and maturity of the community. Many studies have been made comparing prices in actual real estate sales as between comparable white and racially changing neighborhoods, with the conclusion that non-white entry alone, apart from such changes in physical use as increased density, rarely causes a price drop, and often causes a rise. As for the Appleton appraiser's fear of "secondary effects" cited as a lower tax base, with resulting city-wide increase in the property tax, Negroes take pride in their homes and pay taxes like everyone else. The National Association of Real Estate Boards reports that as a class, Negro home buyers meet their payments faithfully, and if the property is in good repair to start with, they maintain it in good shape.

The loss of revenue feared by this appraiser is in fact happening on an infinitely more frightening scale, because we, the white community, have kept Negroes bottled up for so long, without job opportunities and training, in our urban slums. It is in our interest financially to couple open housing with opportunity and education, and to transform all able citizens into self-respecting taxpayers!

Howard Did Fine Job at Shiocton High

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
We at Shiocton High School would like to pay a public compliment to Mr. Scott Howard, disc jockey at WHBY. Recently Mr. Howard was a guest speaker at an assembly program for the students and faculty at our school. We also understand he has done this service for many of the area schools and his message we understand is done without benefit of compensation, a characteristic which is not only admirable but oh so rarely found in man.
His message is one of giving direction to our young adults. His primary area is the "not so evil" area, but cancerous crime of shoplifting. The response to Mr. Howard's talk was inspiring to not only the students, but the faculty alike. We having heard Mr. Howard's message would certainly recommend his speaking to every student in the Fox River Valley community.

17-Year-Old Worries About Death From All These Missiles

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
I have been reading in the papers and hearing on the news on television so much about Mr. Nixon's stand on the ABM System.
To me this ABM System and all our programs about missiles are a waste of money. I am not saying that I'm against national defense but with all our missiles and anti-missiles it is useless. Have these men ever thought of what would happen if they did blow up all those missiles in an attack? What would they do with the radiation? You can't tell me you can destroy a nuclear warhead and prevent radiation.

When Mr. Laird went to Viet Nam and returned to be faced with the ABM crisis, is Viet Nam second rate compared to the ABM?

This world will have two ways of dying. One a fast death destroyed immediately by missiles. The second destruction by radiation.
I am a seventeen year old person who has to live in this world. I want to know answers from people who have so-called experience in this world.

Detective Defends Informant System

I would like to comment on the letter written by Richard E. Dixon which appeared in the March 18 issue of the Post-Crescent entitled, "Police Use of Teenage Informants May Be Prelude to Orwell's 1984."
It appears that Mr. Dixon's real hangup is informants. He calls them a bizarre network, a weird corp of secret police agents, odious, finks and liars. He also suggests that it is possible for some of the police informants to meet with violence because of their activities. Mr. Dixon admits there is good reason to be concerned but questions the grotesque methods the police department uses in attempting to deal with the great problems of drugs. I have read many similar type editorials in various underground newspapers such as the "Post Mortem," "Kalidescope," "CounterPoint," "The Rat" and others.
It is Mr. Dixon who implies that Appleton parents trust and need "known and capable liars" and police informants to know what their sons and daughters are up to, who wonders how parents can speak of honesty and integrity and responsibility when they encourage their children to report anyone they know involved in the traffic of drugs. People like Mr. Dixon are quick to criticize the establishment for the way they are handling today's problems even though they themselves cannot offer a solution. To them getting involved means bucking the system.

If as Mr. Dixon states our police department's effect on the drug problem in our area is negligible, it is not due to the lack of information but because of the wording of the state statutes which makes it so difficult to prosecute a case to completion.
If Mr. Dixon has a better solution than ours, I for one would like to hear it.

Kaukauna Housing Official Responds to Alderman Dix

Editor, The Post-Crescent:
In response to Ald. Dix's letter published March 30, I would like you to present true facts and costs of our apartment building. These figures are taken from our development program and are the actual figures as approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.
1. Cost per apartment including only construction and equipment is $10,487.00.
2. Cost per apartment, including site, site improvement, dwelling construction and equipment, architectural and engineering services, city assessments, administration cost, planning, interest, dwelling equipment and 2 1/2 per cent contingency is $14,208.00.
3. Cost per square foot of dwelling space is $16.67.
Mr. Dix talks with a forked tongue when he states that the Housing Authority did not see or does not have any federal government approval of our project. Written federal approval of our project was given Feb. 21, 1969 to the architectural firm of Sauter and Seaborn, who in turn presented this document to our legal representative, McFadden and O'Connor. These documents were required in our closing procedures.
The federal government, since 1937, has been 100 per cent subsidizing these projects, at no cost to the local governments, and in no way are we obligated to pay any of the interest or principal. Our responsibility is to operate and maintain the building, provide an adequate reserve fund and set up a rent schedule accordingly.
Mr. Dix has personally stated to me that he approves of Housing for the Elderly, voted for it on the Council floor and agrees the residents there are very happy. In his letter to the editor he gives the impression he now opposes the very thing he also favors. A Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde alderman.
Lee Scherer Chairman, Kaukauna Housing Authority
P.S. Ald. Dix, as Judge O'Connor so stated, was invited to attend meetings of the Housing Authority. Both former alderman and commissioner Engstrom and Commissioner Foxgrover expressly invited him at several different council sessions to do so, and the city council directed him to bring his problems before this authority. Ald. Dix chose not to do so, but to bring them before the city council, where newspapermen were present a wide range of opinions." Hanson said, "and I'm sure we can expect more disruption on campus."

The meeting was attended by about 50 students protesting a recent reduction in out-of-state enrollment at the university by the Board of Regents.
Testimony was interrupted at one point by a person in a back row who asked that Hanson speak up.
Committee chairman Milo Knutson, R-La Crosse, ordered the listener out of the room, and said he "would run this meeting."
His committee did not immediately set a date for continuation of its hearings.

More Student Disruptions Are Foreseen

MADISON (AP) — More disruptions, similar to one which resulted in a call for National Guard troops at the University of Wisconsin last month, can be expected, a legislative committee has been told.
A joint committee, investigating university disturbances, heard the prediction as it resumed questioning of UW's campus police chief Ralph Hanson.
"We have students here with

The DISTRICT 12 FACULTY ASSOCIATION Urges You to VOTE NO

... on the Referendum (Joint Resolution #12) to shift total support of vocational, technical and adult education to the state. We feel that the ultimate cost to the Fox Valley taxpayer would be higher than under the present system. Also, local control of the schools would be sacrificed, leaving them much less flexible in their ability to adjust to community needs.

Wisconsin has always had the lead in vocational, technical and adult education. Help keep it that way with a NO vote on April 1st.

you...and your First Wisconsin Charge Card.

That's a pretty good beginning.

Your First Wisconsin Charge Card benefits begin with valuable shopping convenience that doesn't cost you a cent. The convenience of being able to buy what you want—from a choice of more than 13,000 member stores and service outlets—and paying later.

When you use your Charge Card, you have 25 days of free credit beyond your billing date. But if you want to take a longer time to pay, you can. Then the cost is just 1% per month on the average daily balance, plus a 25¢ service charge. That's a lot less than most "revolving" charge plans cost.

There are other advantages, too. Advantages like the "instant" cash feature, good for money in a hurry at over 160 banks throughout the state.

Like getting just one bill per month for all your Charge Card purchases. (Think of the time you save writing checks.) Like being able to shop the "sales", even if you're short of cash.

Like the security it gives you, just to have your card with you, especially on trips.

And, you're protected against loss or theft. When you call us within 48 hours and then send us written notice, your liability is limited to $50.00. Once we have been notified in writing, we accept full liability, and there is no risk on your part, whatsoever.

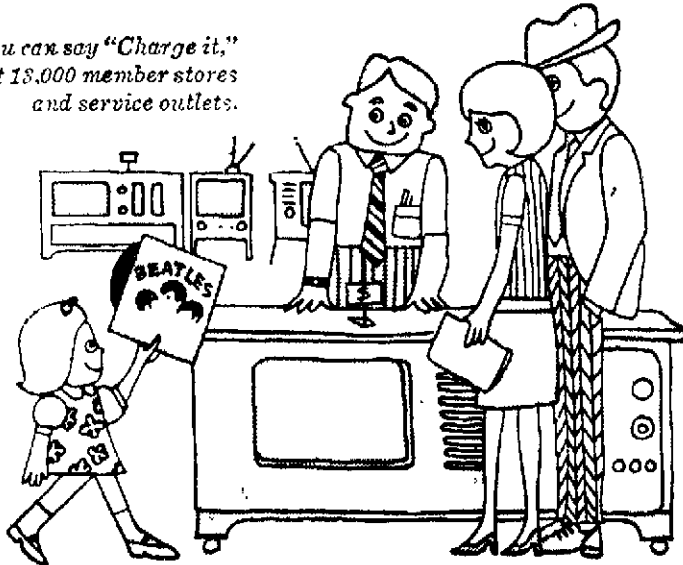

But remember its basic value. All of the above advantages are worthwhile extras. But even if they didn't exist, you'd still find your Charge Card very useful. And we'd like to remind you again why this is so. It simply helps you get what you need—without having to pay until later. It gives you "charge account" convenience at an amazing variety of places throughout Wisconsin.

How to apply.
If you don't yet have a Charge Card, it's easy to apply for one. You can pick up an application form at any sponsoring bank or participating retailer. Or, send the coupon. That's the easiest way of all.

Vernon DeBruin Wins Prudential's Northern Star Trophy

Vernon DeBruin, Agent in Prudential's
Appleton District Office, has been awarded one of the company's highest honors, the Northern Star Trophy.

This award is presented annually to the leading District Agency representative in Prudential's North Central area, comprising Wisconsin and six other midwest states.

Vern's success comes as no surprise — he's been a success since he joined the Appleton District back in 1951. Throughout his Prudential career, he has collected an impressive number of awards and honors for his excellent performance in the areas of sales and service.

The Prudential is proud to be represented by men like Vernon DeBruin; his 1968 sales achievement, more than $1½ million, is outstanding, and his service to his clients has won the respect of all who know him.

Vern is a Wisconsin native and an alumnus of the University of Wisconsin. He and his wife, Pat, have five children.

The Appleton District Office, under manager Donald Knutson, C.L.U., is located at 226 West Wisconsin Avenue, Appleton, 54911. Telephone 734-5761.

w and saw this.

He was so "sorrow-led." But He had come into the world to do something about the world's sin problem. And here in the garden He remembered the decision that had been reached in the councils of the Trinity, how He Himself had volunteered to rescue man from sin and all its terrible consequences. Here He remembered all the Old Testament prophecies that had pointed to His victory on the cross.

The hour had now come for these promises to be fulfilled.

Faced with the greatest battle in history, He knew that He must win or mankind would forever be lost to sin, satan and hell. The next 18 hours or so would tell the story.

Already He was beginning to experience what Isaiah had foretold in prophetic vision:
"The Lord hath laid on Him the iniquity of us all." Centuries of sin, past, present and future, great and "small," known and unknown, were being funneled into the cup that was being pressed to His holy lips. . . the whole, hideous, dreadful, repulsive, torturous cup of human iniquity, including mine and yours.

"Thy Will Be Done"
Is it any wonder that He should be deeply troubled, that He should say: "My soul is sorrowful, even unto death," that He should pray again and again, "My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from Me, nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt" Is it any wonder that Luke reports: "And being in agony He prayed more earnestly; and His sweat became as great drops of blood, falling upon the ground?"

Even while Christ was determined to carry out God's plan for man's salvation, satan and all the powers of hell were trying to dissuade Him from bringing the one, eternal, all-sufficient sacrifice for sin. And His own disciples took the request to watch and pray carelessly. Even those nearest to Him were caught sleeping.

Isn't it still that way. Once again the Christian world is going through the motions of observing Holy Week, but multitudes within the visible church are spiritually drowsy and indifferent, and vast throngs outside the church pass by totally unconcerned.

Didn't Jesus tell us that this is the way it would be toward the end of time!

But Jesus continued on His way to the Cross, for "the joy that was set before Him," knowing that there would be those who would come to believe in Him and be saved. May you be among those for whom our Savior did not agonize in vain. May you never cease being awed by the wonder of His redeeming love and your own unworthiness.

Appleton District Wins Northern Star Trophy

Each year, the North Central Home Office of the Prudential Insurance Company of America awards the Northern Star Trophy to its leading District in a seven-state area including Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, and the Dakotas.

The Appleton District has won this honor for outstanding sales and service to the public during 1968, in competition with 54 other Districts.

Winning this honor reflects a fine team effort on the part of all the people pictured here as well as their associates in Oshkosh and Stevens Point, and is also a tribute to the leadership of Manager Donald Knutson, C.L.U.

An additional honor for the Appleton District Office is the award of the 1968 Northern Star Trophy for top-ranking District Agent in the North Central area to Vernon DeBruin.

The Prudential is proud of the outstanding achievement of Don Knutson and his associates in providing families and businesses in North Central Wisconsin with superior insurance service.

Don, who joined Prudential in 1954, has managed the Appleton District Office since October, 1967. Previously he was manager of the Lakeside District in Milwaukee for three years. As no votes are registered until the Red Handle is moved to open the curtain, you can make as many changes as you desire while the Red Handle is at the right side. The machine is so arranged that you can turn down only the proper number of voting pointers for each office; you cannot spoil your ballot by voting for too many candidates. Each candidate's voting pointer is located just above the name; a voting pointer must be turned down over the name of each candidate for whom you wish to vote. LEAVE VOTING POINTERS DOWN. No one will know how you have voted because the movement of the Red Handle to the left returns the voting pointers to the original position before the curtain begins to open.
